Deliberate Attack —Green

By TOM GOULD, Times Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA — External Affairs Minister Howard Green said today the attack on Canadian signalmen by Congolese soldiers was "deliberate" and could not be explained as a case of mistaken identity.

Canucks Praised

Could Have Fought Out

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP) — The chief United Nations official in the Congo said today Canadian soldiers could "easily" have fought their way out of difficulties with Congolese troops Thursday.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, UN undersecretary, in a statement paid tribute to the Canadian signalmen who were wearing only side arms when they were mauled, kicked and hampered by rifle butts.

"They endured this intolerable interference with duties undertaken in the aid of the Congo Republic," said Bunche.

"They might so easily and effectively have dealt with the situation in their own way."

Lumumba Blames Canadians

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (Reuters) — Premier Patrice Lumumba at a press conference today accused UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld of deliberately exaggerating Thursday's manhandling by Congolese of Canadian soldier here to "influence world opinion" against the Congo government.

Lumumba said the incident in which Congolese attacked the Canadians was "banal enough in itself."

He charged that the Canadians had refused to show their identity cards and behaved themselves "with vulgarity toward the authorities of the nation charged with the control of the airport."

Lumumba also accused Hammarskjöld of "blackmail" because the secretary-general had proposed a reconsideration of UN activities in the Congo as a result of Thursday's incidents.

The premier issued a press statement as UN troops were given orders to shoot if necessary at Leopoldville airport after the Canadians were rough-housed by Congolese troops.

"GO IT ALONE"
Lumumba twice hinted the Congo is prepared to "go it alone" without UN support.

His prepared statement said:

"We could easily, and in a very few days, establish order in this country with our own means and with the direct assistance which we could obtain from certain countries which have already assisted us of their disinterested aid."

Lumumba did not specify the countries.

Lumumba also blamed Thursday's airport incident, when a Canadian officer was knocked unconscious with a rifle butt, on Swedish troops. He said they had prevented Congolese authorities from carrying out immigration control.

Witnesses said only Canadians, Indians, Moroccans and Ghanaian forces were involved in the incident. Except for headquarters staff, all Swedish UN forces left here a week ago for UN duty in Katanga province, 1,000 miles away.

Mr. Green said Canadian forces serving with the UN in the Congo carry full identification, including armbands. "I don't think the question of identification is a good alibi," he said.

He was asked if he thought the Congolese were acting under orders. "That I don't know," he said.

"It looks pretty deliberate," said the minister.

SITUATION 'CONFUSED'

He said it must be understood that the Congolese forces cannot be compared with, say, a Canadian force, acting under control. "The situation there is very confused."

Despite the incident, said Mr. Green, no thought is being given to withdrawal of the Canadian troops.

He indicated he supports UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's view that it would be a mistake if a UN force were to be drawn up on a color basis, and that white troops must be included in the Congo force.

Mr. Green said he did not know whether Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba has yet received Prime Minister Diefenbaker's stiff note of protest over the beating and manhandling of the Canadian soldiers.

The note demanded Lumumba's immediate assurance that the security of Canadian forces would not be violated by the Congolese.

The minister said that if no assurances are received, "that question will have to be decided, in due course."

He said soldiers' lives are always at stake, and that he could not say there was no danger to Canadian personnel serving in the Congo.

Mr. Green said Canadian public opinion was "pretty badly shocked at the incident," but he said the government is "not planning anything drastic at the moment."

UN forces, he said, had been given orders to shoot to protect themselves.

It will be a matter of some years, he said, before the Congo situation settles down.

Dag Hints Slowdown For UN Congo Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld said today that if conditions in the Congo do not improve, further activities by United Nations forces there "may be rendered impossible."

Reporting on an incident in the Congo Thursday in which Canadian signalmen were mauled by Congolese soldiers, Hammarskjöld said in a communiqué to the Security Council:

"Even as matters stand, activities are, in the civilian as well as in the military field, slowed down, rendered less effective and more costly, this quite apart from the continual grave risk of political complications if present conditions are not changed."

"I need not underline the extreme gravity of this incident, which might easily have faced the United Nations troops with a choice between surrender to force or the use of force in legitimate self-defence."

Hammarskjöld said that it was only thanks to the timely intervention by United Nations officers that worse developments "at the last minute were averted."

His statement came shortly before the Security Council was summoned to meet Sunday on the Congo crisis.

SHOCK TREATMENT FATAL

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) — The death of an elderly department store janitor in a do-it-yourself electric chair was being investigated today.

The body of Clarence Hudson, 66, in underclothing, was found in a chair in his apartment.

Clutched in his hand was a ground wire from a weird, home-made electrical apparatus.

A wet towel was wrapped about Hudson's head. His bare feet rested on another wet towel.

Pasted on each temple was a 25-cent piece. From each coin extended a wire to a home-made transformer — a two-pound coffee tin containing a series of magnets and coils of wire.

A lead from the transformer was connected to a wall outlet. Police said the apparatus apparently was triggered by taking hold of the ground wire.

Purpose of the transformer, police said, was to increase the voltage from the wall outlet. It was estimated that 1,000 volts shot through Hudson's body.

Hudson's brother told police the victim had been undergoing electrical shock treatments by a physician.

Animal-Laden Space Ship Into Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians announced the launching of a new five-ton space ship into orbit carrying two dogs and other animals whose life above the clouds will be reported back by television.

ANTI-CASTRO EXILES FAIL

MONTREAL (CP) — General Jose E. Pedraza, leader of the Cuban Anti-Communist Liberation Movement, has made an unsuccessful attempt to sneak into the United States from Canada to organize Cuban exiles for the overthrow of Fidel Castro.

General Pedraza and three other Cuban exiles were nabbed by a United States border patrol early Wednesday after a wild midnight scramble over the international boundary near Phillipsburg, Que., about 60 miles southeast of Montreal.

Moscow radio said the space ship is in orbit at an altitude of 320 kilometres (198.8 miles).

The dogs aboard are named Strelka and Belka, meaning Pointer or Arrow and Squirrel.

The other animals were not immediately identified, but Moscow radio said these two dogs have flown before, accompanied by a big grey rabbit.

The broadcast said the purpose of the ship is to test how living creatures could exist in space — and also how they might be brought back to earth.

The broadcast did not state whether it was planned to bring these particular animals back to earth. The space ship they are in was described as large enough for a man.

Radio equipment will report back the condition of the animals and the functioning of the apparatus aboard and, said Moscow radio, television reports of their activities also will be sent back.

A Tass story said:

"Several medio-biological experiments will be made during the satellite ship's flight and a program of space research will be carried out."

"The weight of the satellite ship apart from the carrier rocket amounts to 4,600 kilograms (10,120 pounds)."

Emissary Grabbed

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — An emissary sent to obtain King Savang Vatthana's approval of the new revolutionary government has been arrested by opposition military forces in the royal capital of Luang Prabang, premier-designate Prince Souvanna Phouma said today.

Powers Sentenced To 10-Year Term

RUSS CLAIM RIGHT TO HIT U.S. BASES

LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow radio said today the conviction and sentence of Francis Gary Powers for his U-2 espionage mission has given Russia "moral and juridical grounds to render harmless the bases from which such planes operate."

The broadcast to southeast Asia said the trial revealed "the unseemly role played by a number of governments who offer their territory to the United States to be used as military bases."

Ike Regrets 'Severity' Of Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today expressed "regrets" over "the severity of the sentence" Gary Powers. The White House said the president will not drop his interest in the case.

Eisenhower's feeling about the sentence, and the broad implication that the U.S. government will press Russia for better treatment of Powers were contained in this statement issued by press secretary James Hagerty:

"The president has been informed of the sentence imposed on Mr. Powers by the Soviet court."

"He deprecates the Soviet propaganda activity in connection with the entire episode beginning last May and regrets the severity of the sentence."

"He extends his sincere sympathy to the members of the Powers family."

U-2 Pilot Won't Face U.S. Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Highly-placed officials said today spy pilot Francis Gary Powers will not have to worry about prosecution by the United States if the Russians ever give him freedom to return home.

Neither the state department, which has discussed the Powers case in the past, nor the Central Intelligence Agency which had charge of the U-2 reconnaissance flights over Russia, would comment on Powers' fate as his Moscow trial came to a close.

Officials privately stressed two points:

1. From a political point of view, internal and international, it would be inadvisable for the United States to prosecute Powers. He apparently has won public sympathy both in this country and abroad for his plight. Also the United States has nothing to gain from keeping the Powers case alive as a propaganda issue.

2. The law on disclosure of information relating to secret operations is regarded within the government as applying only to violations within United States territory.

Strike Denounced

OTTAWA (CP) — President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress today denounced the International Teamsters Brotherhood for inspiring an "illegal wildcat strike" of truck drivers and warehousemen on the CPR's Vancouver Merchandise Service. He said the sole purpose of the illegal strike is to try to "enforce a raid" against the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, a CLC affiliate.

Wife Plans Appeal to K.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union tonight sentenced Francis Gary Powers to prison and then permitted him to see his tearful wife behind the scenes at the courtroom where he was tried for his U-2 spy flight.

A military court gave the 31-year-old American pilot a 10-year sentence for espionage but modified that by specifying only three years are to be spent in prison.

The rest of the sentence is covered by "deprivation of liberty." That may mean assignment to a special colony with other prisoners, or possibly expulsion.

It is conceivable that Powers may be sent out of the Soviet Union when his prison term is finished. There was nothing official on this, but the feeling among some diplomats here is that the Soviet Union at this stage has no special desire to keep Powers after the excitement about him subsides.

The Soviet Union's top penalty for espionage is death by shooting. Prosecutor Roman Rudenko asked for a 15-year sentence. Powers' Soviet lawyer, Mikhail I. Griniov, asked for less, without specifying a definite term.

There is no appeal provided for in the Soviet law, but Powers' wife has indicated her intention to carry a personal plea to Soviet Premier Khrushchev if she can see him.

The hands of a Virginian showed no emotion when he heard the sentence. He stood with arms folded as he heard an English translation of the outcome of his three-day trial.

Judges Take 4 Hours to Set Term

Powers was downed on a May 1 flight which carried him into the Soviet Union at 68,000 feet. The incident led to wrecking of the summit conference and cancellation of the Soviet Union's invitation to President Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union.

The presiding judge of the three-man court, Lt. Gen. Victor Borisoglebsky, read the verdict, reached in a conference of four hours and 35 minutes, following summations. The sentence, he said, runs from May 1, the date of Powers' arrest.

A great burst of applause swept the crowded courtroom. Powers' wife and mother, Mrs. Oliver Powers, collapsed briefly and wept.

His wife Barbara, 24, attired in navy blue, had fidgeted and twisted her gloves as the reading of the verdict went on for 30 minutes. Occasionally she sponged her forehead with a handkerchief dipped in a glass of water.

Both the wife and mother quickly regained their composure and stood up holding hands.

Later Barbara and her husband, whom she had seen only at a distance since she came to Moscow Sunday, were reunited in a little room adjoining the court.

His mother, father, and a sister also were permitted to see him for an hour.

'Repentance' Kept Sentence Light

The court said that in view of "mitigating circumstances in the case and considering the confession and repentance of the defendant, the military collegium (of the Soviet Supreme Court) has sentenced defendant Powers, Francis Gary, in accordance with Article 11 concerning a criminal act against the state, to 10 years of deprivation of liberty, with the first three years to be served in prison."

The judge said the evidence, plus Powers' testimony, "established that Powers carried out the criminal mission he received."

"Experts have established that the information gathered by Powers during his May 1 flight constituted state and military secrets of U.S.S.R.," he said.

"He was a tool of the CIA, Central Intelligence Agency, which carries out plans of the government of the United States."

"Powers knew he was violating international law when he violated the air space of the Soviet Union."

"That violation created a direct threat to world peace and security. The flight of a reconnaissance plane could immediately precede an air attack."

"Under these conditions, the aggressive act of the United States perpetrated May 1 by Powers created a threat to world peace and security."

Earlier, defence counsel Griniov pleaded for a light sentence, saying Powers had told him he faced another trial in the United States if he were allowed to return home. Powers told him, the lawyer said, that he would receive 10 years in jail or a $10,000 fine for revealing details of his contract with the CIA.

Powers himself took the stage again at the conclusion of Griniov's statement and told the judges he wanted to be tried as a person and not as a political figure.

"You have heard all the evidence and must decide what my punishment is to be," the American said.

"I realize I committed a grave crime and must be punished for it."

Fire Kills 6 At Russ Base In Antarctic

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fire at the major Soviet base in Antarctica Aug. 3 took the lives of eight scientists — six Russians, one Czech and one German.

Word of the disaster reached the National Science Foundation today by radio from the U.S. scientific base at McMurdo Sound, Antarctica.

The Soviet base at Mirny is on the other side of the Antarctic continent from the U.S. base. They are about 1,400 miles apart.

Advices from the U.S. base said the fire was reported to have destroyed the meteorology building at Mirny, but gave no details.

B.C. Golfer One Down

OTTAWA — Defending champion Johnny Johnston, Vancouver, was 1 down to Keith Alexander, Calgary, after 27 holes of their 36-hole semi-final today in the Canadian amateur golf championship. They were all square after 18 holes.

In the other semi-final match Mexico's Roberto Halpern held a two-hole lead over favored Gary Gowan, Toronto, after 18 holes. Winners meet in a 36-hole final Saturday. (See Page 8).

RUSSIAN WEEPS

Tearful Reunion With Flier

MOSCOW (UPI) — American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers and his family held a tearful reunion immediately after he was found guilty of espionage and sentenced today.

After the verdict was announced in the courtroom, Powers' wife Barbara, his sister Jessica and his parents were led into a room behind the stage for the reunion. Powers and his family were overcome with emotion and wept.

It was the first time Powers had talked with any member of his family since he left on his mission over Russia and was shot down May 1.

Witnesses described the reunion between Powers and his family as a heart-tugging one. Powers' interpreter came out of the room wiping tears from his eyes.

Then a Soviet cameraman came out and said:

"I could not stand the scene any longer. I would have broken down myself."

Mikhail Griniov, Powers' defence attorney, accompanied the convicted flier into the rear room, but left immediately afterward.

When the reporters asked Griniov what he thought of the sentence, he said: "I think it is a very good and very just sentence."

A spokesman for the Powers family said the sentence "was what had been expected—they were not surprised."

Two phone calls, from New York and Dallas, Tex., came through for the Powers family at the court building, but they refused to answer them.

$100 Rebate Dangled By Socred Candidate

Hopes Boost Coming 'Soon'

Hopes that the B.C. government $50 home-owner grant will be increased to $100 were expressed Thursday night by Ald. J. Donald Smith, one of the three Social Credit candidates for Victoria.

At the same time Mr. Smith admitted that householders like himself would benefit if the homeowner grant were withdrawn and the government assumed the full cost of education.

"In my case it would mean a saving of about $150."

He said the grant was specifically aimed at helping the smaller home-owner—and he twice referred to increasing the grant while addressing a Social Credit election rally in Victoria West school.

"At the last session of the legislature," he said, "the home-owner grant was almost doubled, from $28 to $50, and it is my belief it will be doubled again."

"GREAT THING"

Later, Mr. Smith said: "If the grant is increased to $100, as I hope it will be soon, it will be a great thing for people living in the smaller homes... we are the only country in the world giving this kind of assistance."

Mr. Smith attacked the CCF Opposition for first saying in the legislature that it opposed the grant and "then doing a complete about-face by voting for it."

He said the thousands of small home-owners in B.C., who now pay only $1 a year because of the grant, now know that the CCF was "insincere" in its claim to represent their interests.

Mr. Smith promised further beautification of Victoria through the Capital Improvement District Commission which, he said, had spent almost $1,000,000 on improvement of the waterfront and Beacon Hill Park.

AFTER 40 YEARS

He said the new Victoria courthouse had been promised for 40 years but had only just begun to materialize.

Candidates Scarce

KELOWNA (CP) — Joseph M. Barre, 47, was nominated at a South Oganagan Liberal meeting Thursday. He was the only candidate to contest the nomination. But the Liberals struck trouble in Kaslo-Slocan, where it was reported they had to postpone a nomination meeting for lack of a candidate.

'LADYSMITH SNUBBED' WOMAN TELLS SOCREDS

Ladysmith is being "snubbed and neglected" in the current election campaign, Mrs. Adelaide Marshall told a Social Credit rally in Victoria West School Thursday night.

She rose during the question period and upbraided the three Victoria candidates—Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, Waldo Skillings and Ald. J. Donald Smith—for not even mentioning Ladysmith in their election promises.

"You ignore Ladysmith," she said, "and even the CCF ignores it. It bears an honored name in our history, a great name, and now Mr. Bennett has lowered it to the status of a municipality."

"It should be a city and you know it."

All three candidates tried to assure Mrs. Marshall that no "slight" was intended to Ladysmith.

Mr. Smith said Ladysmith had been converted into a municipality to assist industry by obtaining tax concessions. He thought it was done at the request of the mayor of Ladysmith.

"That man was a butcher," retorted Mrs. Marshall.

"He doesn't know anything about cities."

Mr. Chant told Mrs. Marshall the government had no intention of neglecting Ladysmith.

Victoria Social Credit candidates—Public Works Minister W. N. Chant and Waldo Skillings—all promised expansion of services on Vancouver Island.

Mr. Chant envisaged a "complete network of roads" linking northern and southern Vancouver Island, and said the two ferries now operating between Sidney and the mainland may have to be doubled.

"Already," he said, "they are finding it difficult to handle all the traffic."

"We foresee a tremendous increase in both industry and population for the Island. There may not be room for too much expansion in Victoria, but in Saanich you will see a great increase in population."

"It is not by chance that big firms like Woodwards are planning to put up large stores on the outskirts of Victoria."

COMBAT SPRAWL

Mr. Chant suggested the setting aside of agricultural land in perpetuity in order to safeguard production and combat urban sprawl.

He poked fun at the CCF for stating that B.C. had a debt of $355,000,000 "hanging over its head."

"This is not debt," he declared, "but even if it were the CCF would multiply it three or four times over by taking over the B.C. Electric and spending billions on public power development."

Mr. Skillings said it is "absolute nonsense" to suggest that the province's contingent liabilities are debt.

"BE VERY PROUD"

"We in British Columbia have no bonded indebtedness today—those bonds were all burned in Kelowna last year and we are now on a pay-as-you-go basis."

"We should be very proud of our $555,000,000 contingent liabilities. They show that our province is in wonderful financial shape and our credit is good everywhere."

Mr. Skillings said one of the best things the government ever did was to buy the First Narrows Bridge in Vancouver for $6,000,000. By contrast the Second Narrows Bridge cost $35,000,000, but both were needed.

U.K. Seamen Halt 2 More Big Liners

LONDON (Reuters) — British seamen defiantly continued their wildcat strike today after failing to stop the liner Queen Elizabeth from sailing.

Strike leaders shifted their campaign to Liverpool, hoping to prevent today's scheduled sailing of the Cunard liner Britannic for New York and the elder Dempster line's Apsara for West Africa.

The seamen were still defiant after suffering a setback Thursday when the Queen Elizabeth sailed.

Strikers also failed to halt the Union Castle line's Windsor Castle from sailing for South Africa on her maiden voyage Thursday.

But strike leaders claimed two successes. They prevented the departures of the 25,000-ton Canadian Pacific line's Empress of Britain and the 21,947-ton Cunard liner Carinthia.

The Carinthia's passengers will be flown across the Atlantic while the Empress of Britain's sailing time was moved from Friday to Monday.

Passengers Removed From Struck Ship

MONTREAL (CP) — The liner Sylvania postponed her sailing indefinitely today when a section of her crew threatened to leave the ship if her gangplank was raised.

A Cunard Steamships Company spokesman said the 300 passengers on board will be removed.

It was not immediately known if the company would offer to fly them to Britain.

Many of the 50 or 60 engine-room men and deckhands who threatened to leave the ship said they had been recruited in Britain.

"We want to clear our name, we are not scabs," said a spokesman for the group here. He said that when they were recruited for the trip to Canada they didn't realize it was for a ship whose crew had been hit by the wildcat strike now tying up British ports.

The men indicated they would remain on strike 48 hours.

The Sylvania arrived here Wednesday with a skeleton crew. Many of her 950 passengers pitched in to wait on tables and clean rooms during the voyage.

TRAPPED FOR 63 HOURS

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters)—Francisco Matsino, a Negro miner who was trapped for 63 hours by a rockfall 2,300 feet below ground in the Village of Main gold mine here, was in hospital today after being rescued Thursday night.

Meanwhile, the search continued for the bodies of one white miner and 11 Negroes killed by the rockfall Tuesday.

The Strange Silence

IT WAS TYPICAL OF MR. BENNETT to order a snap election in the holiday season when there can be no time for adequate public debate on the many great problems facing British Columbia. But it is not typical to deny himself the chance of making speeches all over the province.

Mr. Bennett says his speeches will be few, delivered only at the key points of politics, on what he considers the key issues. The Premier has never approached an election in this fashion before, has never avoided the hustings from the largest city to the smallest hamlet, but has always been eager to meet the electors everywhere.

It is possible that he takes victory for granted and sees no need to spend his energies on an election already won. It is much more likely, however, that he is avoiding speeches because he is not ready to reveal his thoughts on the big issues.

In one sense his Government enters the election well prepared, the Social Credit machinery well-oiled, the campaign coffers full, the support of big business interests assured. In another and much more important sense, the Government is ill-prepared when it cannot, or at any rate has not yet answered the questions that every thoughtful voter is asking.

A strategy of silence was enforced throughout the last session of the Legislature with endless words, of course, but a minimum of facts. The Opposition parties could not extract from the Government any clear understanding of its policies on the Columbia River electrical project, on the Wenner-Gren plans for the Peace, on the eight-man, Wonderland railway to the Yukon.

Mr. Bennett evaded any questions on these matters, though they involve the whole economic future of British Columbia, obviously because he was in no position to answer them. At that time he did not know how the Columbia was to be developed, whether Mr. Wenner-Gren could finance his promotion on the Peace, whether the northern railway was a serious project or merely a gesture to keep the promoters in good standing while they tried to raise money for their other plans.

Throughout the session Mr. Bennett refused to explain these mysteries, to tell the people what they would cost the public treasury or to indicate what he really had in mind. He would say only that, at the proper time, the facts would be submitted to the Legislature which could then accept or reject the Government's policy, so far undisclosed.

It is still undisclosed. And before disclosing it Mr. Bennett asks the people to elect a Legislature sure to approve any policy that he may devise, to rubber-stamp any deal that he may make with the electrical and railway promoters. He asks for another four years of power without saying how he intends to use it in the largest—and most costly—business of these times. He asks for a blank cheque.

As he pursues the strategy of silence it is no wonder that he chooses to make few speeches lest he be tempted to reveal his actual intentions if, indeed, he knows them himself.

Speaking for the People

IN FORCEFULLY CRITICIZING the breakdown of the 10-nation disarmament committee last June and urging an immediate resumption of the vital negotiations, External Affairs Minister Howard Green is obviously making a bid for United Nations recognition of the opinions of Canada and other so-called middle powers. It is a progressive step for which he is to be commended and it deserves the support of the 82-member UN disarmament commission now meeting.

Mr. Green's plea in effect served notice on the great powers, Britain and the United States included, that the smaller countries of the world are deeply concerned over the stalemate into which disarmament talks have fallen. He, like millions of men and women the world over, sees the need for speed in arriving at a workable system of disarmament, and security from nuclear war.

It is this sense of emergency that makes all the more discreditable the failure of the Geneva talks. As Mr. Green has pointed out, East and West had presented their original proposals, which were found unacceptable by the other side.

These had been followed by counter proposals in the normal manner of negotiation, yet before they could be properly discussed and a common ground sought, the conference was abruptly destroyed.

It was obvious at the time that Russia was merely looking for an excuse to discontinue the talks. The Summit wreckage was still strewn about the field of diplomacy, and Russia apparently sought more ways in which to indicate its displeasure and capitalize on the spy plane fiasco.

But such diplomatic posturing is not good enough. The issues at stake are too vital, the threat of failure too terrible, for disarmament talks to become merely a means of bettering a cold-war position or demeaning an opponent.

Mr. Green sees this clearly. All governments, whether of great or small states, must likewise understand it. But it has remained for a non-nuclear country, of non-aggressive tradition but middle-power strength, to state the case clearly and sound the warning on behalf of the peoples of the world. There should be universal agreement with the Canadian statement.

Gone Too Far?

DOMINICANS BORN IN THE year in which Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo came to power as dictator of the country are thirty years old now. The Generalissimo has had a long run as a one-man government. Perhaps one-family government would better describe the situation, for although Trujillo has kept personal control of affairs he has loaded his regime with relatives.

The Generalissimo has been in hot water from time to time. Today he has a problem on his hands in the enemy of many of the Latin American countries, and the specific accusations of Venezuela that an assassination attempt on the life of the Venezuelan president was masterminded by the Trujillo regime.

The protesting country is calling on the Organization of American States, now in conference in Costa Rica, to impose a boycott against the Dominican Republic—everything short of armed intervention. A number of Latin American governments support the Venezuelan move, but others, including the United States, advise caution. This is the organization which Canada has on several occasions been asked to join. Ottawa is now considering membership. At the moment this country is an observer at OAS meetings; fear of embarrassing entanglements in view of our international position—as a Commonwealth member, for one thing—has always prevented a closer association. Canadians, indeed, have had little direct interest in the affairs of their southern hemisphere neighbors.

The present contretemps is one in which Canada could take an interest, however. The Trujillo regime is described by the New York Times as having earned the condemnation of most Latin American countries for its "tyranny, killings, tortures, corruption and fantastic acquisitions of wealth."

Whether Generalissimo Trujillo will weather this latest storm is not clear. Apparently a whole generation of Dominicans has been content under such conditions, at least to the point of tolerating them. But international interference is quite another matter, and the Generalissimo's aroused neighbors may succeed in doing what his captive domestic audience has failed to do.

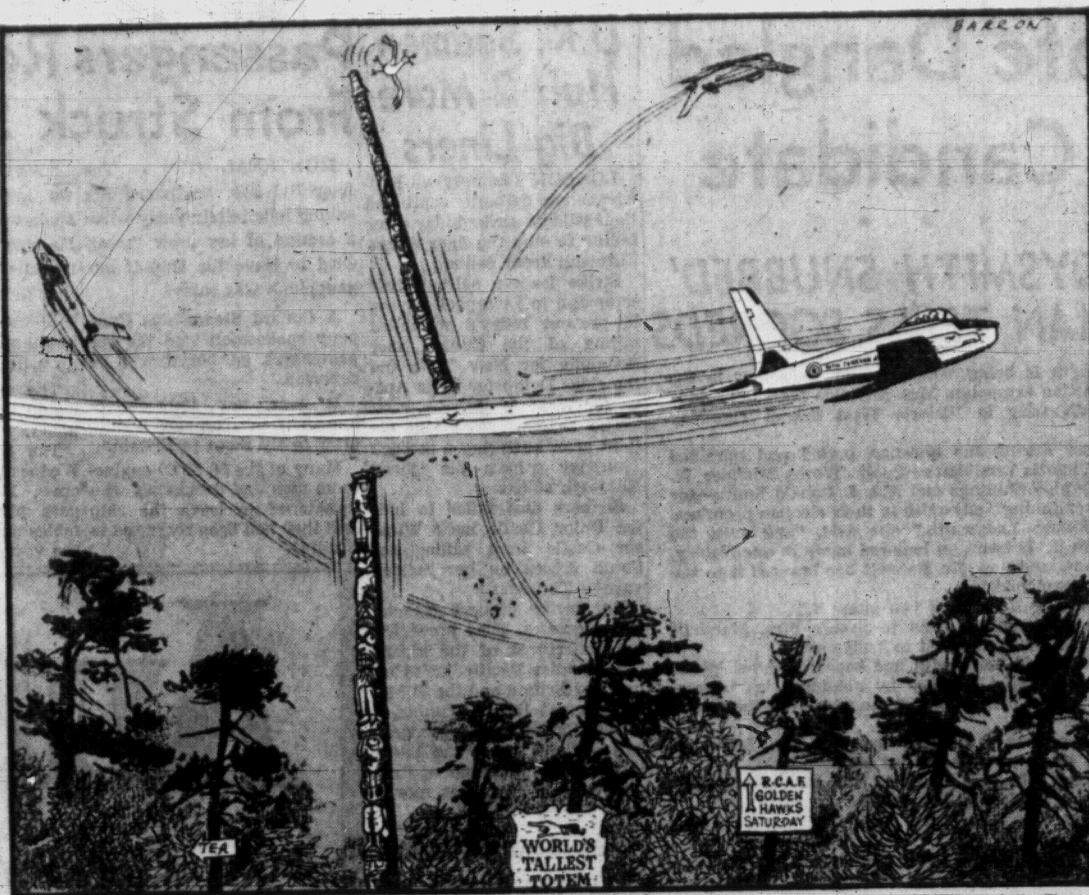

What Will It Cost?

MR. WILLISTON AND MR. KERNAN, speaking for the Government, protest vigorously that there has been no give-away to the Wenner-Gren interests. Of course not. Nothing has been given away yet.

But do the two ministers seriously suggest that the Wenner-Gren interests will proceed with the creation of a railway and a gigantic hydro-electric development without land grants and other concessions?

What the public of British Columbia wants to know—is entitled to know—is what it will cost the people of this province when, or if, these projects are carried out.

A VERY DISTANT RELATIVE

Fighting a Losing Battle with Gravity

By B. A. TOBIN

FOR a considerable time now plankton has been treated somewhat like Mark Twain's weather—about it but nobody does anything about it. But people's interest has been stirred more and more deeply, and so has the plankton. Two shiploads of West German scientists have been investigating this form of living soup that inhabits the oceans of the world and the reports have come up with some interesting facts.

Tobin

Most folk nowadays know that plankton is the name given to the vast clouds of tiny marine life—about half of it vegetable and half of it animal—that exist below the surface of the sea.

Food to Spare

Man lately has been speculating on the feasibility of using plankton for food, for there must be millions of tons of the minute organisms growing in the sea. Actually, of course, man has been living off plankton since the dawn of time, since little fish eat plankton, big fish eat the little fish, and man eats the big fish.

But as a direct comestible, without any intermediate steps, plankton might not be so appetizing. It would appear, before it was doctored up to snap, crackle and pop and had Vitamins C and D added, as a muddy, greenish jelly, high in protein, and probably high, period.

But all the same it would be very healthful, the experts tell us. And if the population continues to increase at the present fast clip we—or our posterity—will find ourselves dining off the Plankton Special with french fries pretty frequently in the future.

Blissful Ignorance

It's safe to say that plankton does not even know about us yet. In teeming billions, the microscopic creatures of many different kinds drift with the tides and move to lesser or greater depths with the continual currents that stir the oceans.

The tiny beings are surrounded by food, since they live off each other. But since they are floaters and not swimmers—having almost no means of locomotion—life must be a rather hit or miss thing with them.

These specks of life far outnumber the insect world, of course, and constitute the most numerous life form on earth. They are the elemental form of food on which all other sea life builds.

The basis of all is the plant form, called phytoplankton, and with it is usually found the animal form, the zooplankton. But common to both—and forming one of the chief tests of being plankton or not—is the inability to move around voluntarily.

Sunbathers

Phytoplankton contains chlorophyll, like most plants, and therefore requires a certain amount of sunlight to function. In northern waters it floats as deep as 60 feet under the surface, but in tropical latitudes is found as far down as 300 feet.

The organisms called plankton are very slightly heavier than sea water. In other words, the tiny creatures slowly sink, and since they cannot swim they can't do anything to prevent that sinking feeling.

And thereby hangs the life tragedy of plankton.

For since it must have at least a glimmer of sunlight to exist, sinking means ultimate death. The end of the world for plankton is the slow, gradual descent to the sunless depths.

The process may be delayed, for sea currents which we are only now learning about often bring plankton to surface waters for a spell. On the other hand, currents may draw it down to lower levels.

Ill-Fated

Thus, multitudinous and anonymous as it is, plankton has a dramatic and tragic life story. From the moment of birth, by reason of a tiny difference in its density compared with that of water, it begins its relentless descent to death—provided it is not eaten in the meantime.

Dependent upon forces which it cannot control, lost in the mass of its fellow creatures, adrift in an apparently infinite sea yet vitally concerned with the immediate needs of food and procreation, perhaps repeatedly relieved for short periods but doomed to inescapable destruction by the immutable laws of physics and chemistry—so live these little specks of life in their cloud community.

Thus described, plankton seems to have much in common with some other form of life, if I could just think what it was.

By MAX FREEDMAN

FROM WASHINGTON

To Suit the Strategy of Communism

WITH the trial of Mr. Francis Powers, the U-2 pilot ended in Moscow

it may be useful to place on record the forecast by United States officials of the course which the trial would follow. It should be understood that the trial had become a cast propaganda exercise by Moscow and Washington. The Soviet Union was more interested in bringing an indictment against the United States than in establishing the guilt of Mr. Powers. By the same token the United States Government must look beyond the guilt of one American citizen and must try to prevent the judgment from embarrassing American policy in many parts of the world.

American officials had worked very hard, in their private discussions with journalists, to persuade world opinion to discount any confession of guilt by Mr. Powers. They assumed that Russia would never have agreed to stage this trial unless it had full assurance of such a confession.

Mr. Powers had come into court without any sign of physical mistreatment. It is less easy to determine whether he had been the victim of drugs that had broken his powers of resistance or whether he had been conditioned by elaborate psychological treatment to give the answers required by the Kremlin.

For many weeks some of the ablest men in the Central Intelligence Agency have been giving all their time to an analysis of every aspect of the U-2 flight. They were trying to guess how genuine facts could be twisted by Russia to suit the strategy of Communism.

Elaborate papers were prepared for the guidance of Mr. Allan Dulles, head of the agency, so that quick denials could be made with his authority of the more damaging distortions or confessions in Moscow. Few if any of these denials will be attributed directly to Mr. Dulles. Nonetheless they will come from his agency.

The first assumption in Washington was that Mr. Powers would admit his guilt, as he did.

The second assumption was that the Russian defence counsel would carry out his pledge to make a strong plea for mercy, and this also occurred.

The third point made in Washington is that the indictment names Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Nixon as being among the real culprits who used Mr. Powers as their agent. American authorities are specifically described as "aggressors."

It is this part of the indictment which led the government to believe that the bulk of the trial would turn on the policies of the United States rather than on the conduct of Mr. Powers.

The notorious purge trials before 1939 were conducted by Stalin in accordance with a cruel logic dictated by the law of survival in the struggle for power inside the Communist party. The present trial was governed not by Mr. Khrushchev's desire to achieve a triumph within Russia but to humiliate and confuse American policy.

In carrying out this aim the Russian government relied on the fact that large sections of the world are unfamiliar with Soviet espionage or else tend to discount its magnitude. On no other supposition is it possible to explain the eagerness with which Moscow has granted so many visas to reporters from many countries.

The Russian defence counsel would carry out his pledge to make a strong plea for mercy, and this also occurred.

A small note of protest regarding the sounding of air-raid sirens and this new stupid propaganda regarding radiation shelters.

If the political hoodlums of the world today do decide to fight a nuclear war I hope they catch me and mine in the first direct hit because this would relieve me of the necessity of using the gun and ammunition set aside to see that my kids do not have to live through a "world on fire."

I speak as a British veteran of the Second World War, which was supposed to be the end of this kind of animal destructive just inherent in the human pig.

I am quite sure there are many more ordinary people who feel the same way as I do regarding this, so with all due respect to Eisenhower, Macmillan, Khrushchev, the Pope and all the rest of the gang, all we ask is to be left alone until such time as they wish to play the fiddle and then as usual "we will pay the piper."

Wishbone for Backbone

Developments within the CCF party recently should be looked upon with deep concern. Alarming it is to see labor unions jockeying for top positions in an unholy alliance with the CCF socialist party.

There is danger in socialism. It is the easiest way of life to "fall" into. A system where wishbone replaces backbone.

This "easy way of life," really only a mirage, is already appealing to some of our people. We must not be fooled that there really is an "easy way of life." There is not. Democracy as well as socialism demand hard work for a high standard of living. Democracy has the advantage of freedom; socialism does not.

On the subject of voting: we could be "left" without a vote.

For Everyone's Benefit

Those who urge the abolition of nuclear bomb tests are supporting bringing about of our surrender to slaughter and enslavement, as they have no alternative proposal that would protect us from a treacherous enemy.

Likewise, the socialists who urge support of their "democratic" form of government—in reality totalitarianism—are not convincing.

The logical way to benefit all of us citizens is the government working in co-operation with free enterprise.

Drain on Insurance

A few years ago, when I was queuing for my $15 a week unemployment insurance money, there was always near by a young woman of my acquaintance queuing for hers. This young woman was married, had one child. Her husband was in a well-paid job, and she was in the last stages of pregnancy.

If Unemployment Insurance was devoted only to tide people over until they obtain employment why was this young woman, who was in no condition to hold a position, allowed by the UIC to draw pay?

There are always unscrupulous people. However, should not the UIC officers guard against this kind of practice?

I have heard, on good authority, of other cases, especially among fishermen and other trades who make very high pay in the summer months, amounting to many thousands of dollars, then in the winter draw Unemployment Insurance.

If this practice is taking place all across Canada and with the present large number of applicants, is it any wonder the Unemployment Insurance Fund is rapidly becoming depleted?

Time for Discussion

Many people complain of the dullness and small attendance at modern political meetings. They pine for the "good old days" when election meetings constituted something more than the platitudinous convalescence of the party faithful we must endure today.

This situation could probably be ameliorated if all the parties of capitalism allowed a discussion period at the end of each meeting during which members of the audience could speak in opposition to the platform.

The Socialist Party of Canada has always followed this policy at public meetings (in addition to a question period), having everything to gain and nothing to lose from open debate and free discussion. The other parties leave themselves suspect in their policy of muzzling the audience down to mere questions.

Protected Birds

With the approach of the hunting season, I wish to bring to the attention of the hunters a few important facts.

All eagles, hawks and owls are protected by law. This also applies to all migratory birds. The only species not so protected are crows, ravens, magpies, starlings, bluejays and English sparrows (excluding game birds).

I would suggest that to make your sport a challenge and test of your skills you should identify the species and sex before you shoot. To assist you with this the Provincial Museum has a book on "Birds of British Columbia" (waterfowl), costing only 25 cents.

Shoot only the birds you will keep. One definition of the word sportsman is "one who is fair and honorable in sport." Let this be you.

Is Epilepsy Inherited?

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Dozens of anxious mothers, who have had epilepsy, write to ask me how much risk their children run of getting the disease.

I cannot tell exactly because I do not know if the mother has hereditary epilepsy, or if her husband has in his "genes" (heredity-carrying units in the body cells) any tendency to epilepsy or psychosis.

If he has such an inheritance, it can reinforce any tendency the wife has, and can make the outlook worse for the children. To illustrate: if one should mate a Persian cat with an ally cat, one would expect to get some Persian kittens and some alley-cat kittens. But if one were to mate the Persian female with a male which had some Persian blood, one would expect to get more Persian kittens.

Dr. O. P. Kimball once wrote that with great care and persistence, and after gaining the liking and friendship of the parents of a large group of epileptic children, he eventually got a history of epilepsy in 37 per cent of the parental groups.

Some authorities give a comparable figure of perhaps 4 per cent, but that is about the percentage one gets if one accepts the first answer given when one asks an epileptic if he has any epileptic relatives. Almost always he says, "No." Only after one has spent days in making friends with an epileptic may he remember that his mother used to faint often, or that his uncle used to "black out" and wreck his car.

Scores of couples with epileptic children tell me that in their case the disease cannot be hereditary because they know of no epilepsy in either their parents or grand-parents. But if a child got epilepsy before he was 10, and if the electroencephalograms (electric records from the brain) show the typical records of familial epilepsy, I can almost always find in the parents, or grandparents, or uncles or aunts, a history of a violent temper or mild psychosis, or some mild equivalent of epilepsy.

Then, if I can get electroencephalograms made of the eccentric person, usually I find records which virtually prove that he is an epileptic, even if he never had a fit.

I wish all my readers who think epilepsy means only fits could study with me the records of the last 200 epileptics I have seen in the office—to see how few of them ever had a fit.

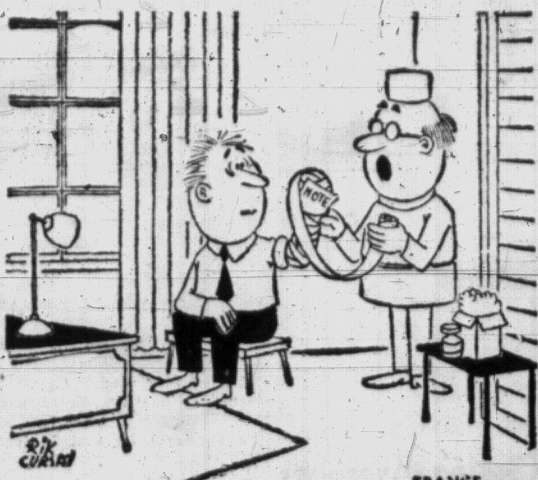

Most of them came to me for nervous troubles, headaches, abdominal pain, or difficulty in getting along with people. Many epileptics hate to have me say these things but I must, because it is so essential that everyone comes to look on epilepsy like any other disease about which we feel no shame.

I am struggling constantly against employers to quit discriminating against epileptics. Many epileptics are wonderful people who, each day of their lives, fight to control their temper, to put up perhaps with much nervousness, poor sleep, terrible nightmares, and perhaps a craving for alcoholic liquor.

People with a very painful senescent arthritis in a hip joint write asking why nothing that they have taken so far in the way of medicine, and nothing they have had in the way of physiotherapy has done any good. I think they would understand how difficult the medical problem is if they were to glance at an X-ray film of their hip joint, and see how badly destroyed this is. Often it is full of a rough collection of lime salts.

I was just chatting with some of the ablest orthopedists about this problem, and they said that today they generally operate to remove the diseased and deformed upper end of the thigh bone, and to replace it with a smooth, well-shaped one made of a certain metal.

They admit that not everyone gets a perfect result, but some do, and this gives the doctors the hope to keep working at the problem.

Bit of Effort Now Pays Big Dividends

The vegetables which were sown around mid-July should be given a few minutes attention each day, or twice a week, depending on the extent of the sowings. The effort will be well repaid in a few weeks. Judging from the condition of my sowings which were made on August 2, those made at the correct time should be well advanced by now.

Weeding and cultivating are important steps toward a good crop at this time of year. Attended to regularly it never becomes a chore.

NINE INCHES
Some of the lettuce plants should now be transplanted for heading-up. Give a nine-inch spacing between the plants for the large head types and six inches between the butter-heads.

Try to make the removal of plants into a thinning-out of the seed row, and move only two or three every five days so that the whole crop is not ready at one time.

With the extra space in the seed row some of the surplus plants will grow more rapidly and soon be suitable as leaf lettuce.

It would be wise to provide short twiggy sticks for the dwarf peas. We can expect these in production after the fall rains have started and results will not be satisfactory if the vines and pods are sprawled over damp soil.

BE CAREFUL

When hoeing out weeds around the cabbage, kale, sprouts and broccoli plants set out in July, be careful not to loosen the soil in the immediate area of the roots. With all cabbage, loose soil gives poor results.

As the plants develop, work the soil towards the stems for support. Check the leaves for the yellow pin-head eggs of the cabbage butterfly and give these the thumb and finger treatment now rather than poisonous sprays after the caterpillars are out.

Thin all other seedlings, first to about three inches apart and then progressively to the required distance for full development. The weight of a well spaced crop always exceeds that of a crowded crop.

No Group Can Meet Threat Posed by War—Chisholm

REHOVOT, Israel (AP)—Dr. Bröck Chisholm Thursday night called for a complete revision of mental attitudes and education methods to meet the challenge of modern times.

Chisholm, former director-general of the World Health Organization and the World Federation of Mental Health, spoke before the international conference on science in advancement of new states.

"None of our human institutions was designed to deal with the kind of threat that now exists when warfare is synonymous with the suicide of the race," he said, "and no single group can defend itself from death."

RCAF Gets New Low-Cost Transport

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF unveiled a new high-speed, low-cost, medium-range transport Wednesday which will gradually replace the aging C-47s or Dakotas of Second World War fame.

Known as the CC-109, the aircraft, manufactured by Canadair Limited of Montreal at a unit cost of $1,400,000, is powered by two 3,500-horsepower engines, giving it a maximum speed of about 340 miles an hour. In contrast the Dakota's two-piston engines give it a cruising speed of 170 miles an hour.

The air force has ordered 10 of the "planes at a total cost of about $14,000,000. All will be delivered to the RCAF's 412 Transport Squadron at Uplands Airport on the southern outskirts of Ottawa.

Rambler To Change Styling

BURLINGTON, Wis. (UPI)—The first significant styling change to hit the showrooms in 10 years will come this fall in the 1961 Rambler American line.

American Motors president George Romney, an old foe of annual model changes, confirmed that counterattack on the new compact cars which are entering his once-exclusive domain.

At a press preview Romney said that Rambler will add a convertible to its American line in 1961. Seven per cent of the initial production would be convertibles, but Romney added that he expected the percentage to rise to 10 later in the model run.

Although Romney refused to comment about it for the record, American is also planning an aluminum six-cylinder engine for its 108-inch wheelbase 1961 Ramblers, which will carry the series name, "Classic."

'Pure, Hymn-Singing Gov't Broke Promises'—Gregory

The Social Credit government on which it rode to power in 1952, was accused Thursday night of breaking the promises

Victoria Liberal George Gregory told a Saanich nominating convention the government had violated pledges of honest and efficient administration, reduced taxes and keeping the public informed.

The promises were made in 1952 when Social Credit was "a new, pure, hymn-singing government."

"PROVED" "Apparently," said Mr. Gregory, "it's not sporting to make mention of honesty or dishonesty... although it's been proved beyond a reasonable doubt."

He then cited Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston for refusing to review forest licences granted "during the term of his predecessor."

Predecessor Robert Sommers is in jail for bribery.

He also attacked the "debt free" claim of Premier Bennett, comparing a 1952 direct debt of $222 million with a 1960 contingent liability of $553 million.

INEFFICIENCY

Mr. Gregory mentioned Toll Authority bridge and ferry construction costs in a charge of inefficiency. He claimed Mr. Bennett originally put a $3 million price tag on his new ferry to Tsawwassen, and that accounted spending totals $12 million.

"In 1952 tax revenue was $67 million a year; in 1960 the estimate is for $153.5 million. "Population has increased 38 per cent; tax revenue has increased 125 per cent."

"There are also four taxes invented by Social Credit—mineral tax, mining tax, commercial transport tax and 2 per cent on all insurance premiums." Apart from that the government had raised the sales tax to 5 per cent.

Mr. Gregory said debt of Crown agencies such as the Toll Authority and the Pacific Great Eastern Railway is paid by the taxpayers, just as direct debt would be.

"YOU PAY"

"You can slice it any way you like, you're going to pay off this debt as a taxpayer—riding the PGE, on the Oak Street Bridge, on the ferry."

Briefly outlining a Liberal proposal for medical care "to ensure no one suffers financial disaster as a result of illness" patterned on MSA, Mr. Gregory accused the government of not fulfilling its promise of a chronic care plan.

A Liberal plan to remove school taxes from property owners would work despite government skepticism, he said.

"The premier says we're saving $22,000,000 a year formerly paid to service the provincial debt which no longer exists—we can use that for part of it."

200 Hurt In Iran Riot

TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters)—Two hundred people were injured when Iranian troops fired on opposition party supporters who attacked a polling station at Mandoob, Azerbaijan province, it was reported here Wednesday. The Tehran newspaper Itelaat said party supporters tried to steal ballot boxes during balloting.

"I FEEL WONDERFUL," financier Bernard Baruch told newsmen Thursday, the eve of his 90th birthday. Baruch is shown being interviewed in his New York home.

Seaman Fined, Ordered to Pay For New Window

Naval seaman Lorne Blair Walters and Clifford Brent Murray of HMCS Jonquiere, were fined $25 and ordered to pay $10 compensation each when they pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday to a charge of wilful damage.

The two broke a no-draft window valued at $20 on a car owned by Frank McNutt, 311 George West, early Wednesday.

They offered the court no reason for the act, but a superior officer testified to previous good records for the last six months.

$7,500 for Fire Damage

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Oliphant received $7,500 insurance and $500 for living expenses in B.C. Supreme Court here Thursday for loss by fire of their home and possessions at Saseenos, near Sooke.

The award was made in a judgment handed down by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane. It is expected to be appealed.

The fire occurred at 1 a.m. on Feb. 12, 1959. Mr. and Mrs. Oliphant and their children—Lee, then nine, and Lynn seven—escaped without injury. But they claimed in Supreme Court on June 14 last that they had been without a home since the fire.

They said they had agreed to a settlement of $5,000 for loss of furnishings, but asked for $10,400 in respect of the house and $2,000 for living expenses.

Their claim was contested by the General Insurance Co. of America, which offered $11,611 in full settlement. The company contended that the Oliphants' frame house, originally valued at $15,000, could have been rebuilt for $6,469.

Gerald Lauder for Mr. and Mrs. Oliphant claimed that the house was a "total loss" after the fire and said the company should pay the cost of building a new one.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane, in his judgment, observed that the house was "fairly old" and had been added to or altered.

He said it was impossible to fix accurately the value of the premises, but he thought "the amount sufficient to indemnify the insured would be fairly fixed at $7,500 after making allowance for salvage."

The judge noted that Mr. and Mrs. Oliphant had already received $5,000 for loss of furnishings, and he directed that they should recover the cost of the action.

Bill's Pals Paid

Wakeham Gives Money's Worth

(Special to the Times)

OTTAWA — Sentiments of west coast golfing fans lay solidly behind defending champion Johnny Johnston today, but Victoria enthusiasts still have a special niche in their hearts for Bill Wakeham.

The 19-year-old smoothie from the Gorge Vale course had to count on help from Victoria businessmen, friends and relatives in order to make the trip to the Canadian Amateur championships.

Wakeham, the 1957 Canadian junior king, just missed the quarter-finals, but there's no doubt his "sponsors" got their money's worth.

Wakeham bowed out of the picture on Thursday morning when Mexico's Roberto Halpern dropped a 12-foot birdie putt on the 18th to defeat Bill 1 up.

And for Halpern, a member of Mexico's Americas Cup team, that proved to be his toughest match yet in the week-long event. It was a heart-breaking loss for Wakeham, however, after leading by two holes at the end of the 10th.

Halpern went on to fire four birdies and 10 pars in a sizzling afternoon round that gave him an easy but surprising 5 and 4 victory over Calgary's Bob Wyllie, 30-year-old former professional.

That hot round in the quarter-finals sent Halpern into today's 36-hole semifinals against Toronto's youthful Gary Cowan.

Johnston, from Vancouver, went against Calgary's Keith Alexander, whose steady performance in two rounds Thursday included knocking off the last remaining United States entrant, Mark Darnell of Dayton, Ohio.

The quarterfinal round Thursday brought these results: Johnston, 35, took cigar-puffing Bill Pidlaski of Winnipeg—42 in both years and fourth to the 16th green where he ended the match 3 and 2 by recovering from the rough to drop a 15-foot birdie putt.

Alexander, who edged the 20-year-old Darnell one up in the morning round, defeated Witold Weyernowski of St. Catharines, Ont., 5 and 3 after touring the outgoing nine holes in par and firing three birdies on the last four holes of the match.

Cowan, 21-year-old former Canadian junior champion, was four under par when he defeated 17-year-old Hector Alvarez, Mexican junior titlist, on the 14th hole, 6 and 4. In the morning round Cowan edged Toronto's Bob Rose 3 and 2.

Vancouver Pair Sailing Second
MONTREAL (CP) — Alex Foley and Don Martin of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club were in second place Thursday after the sailing of three races in the Firefly class at the Canadian junior Olympic regatta.

Foley and Martin, who will sail in the final two races today, had a total of 54 points for second place behind Gregor Maxwell and Ann Johnson of the Royal St. Lawrence Club, leading with 60.

EXPERT'S OPINION

Sprints Missing Yank Trademark

The following article by Roberto L. Quercetani, recognized world authority on track and field, analyzes sprint competition in the Olympic Games which start Aug. 25.

By ROBERTO L. QUERCETANI

ROME (AP) — The 1960 Olympic Games sprinters are loaded with talent—for once not entirely United States-made. Never until today have so many good sprinters come out of so many different countries.

Harry Jerome, 19, of Vancouver, and Armin Hary, 23, of West Germany, recently stole world headlines by running 100 metres in 10 seconds flat, one-tenth under the listed world record.

Cowan, 21-year-old former Canadian junior champion, was four under par when he defeated 17-year-old Hector Alvarez, Mexican junior titlist, on the 14th hole, 6 and 4. In the morning round Cowan edged Toronto's Bob Rose 3 and 2.

Cowboys Call On Kurt for Snaps
CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampede's wingback George Tait will be out of Western Interprovincial Football Union action between six and eight weeks with his right leg broken above the ankle.

The injury occurred during the game Monday between the Stamps and Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Stampede also announced the return of centre Kurt Burris, recently cut by the club, to snap the ball and play defensive linebacker. The move followed several bad snaps in Monday's game by Canadian centre Dale Parsons.

JESSE'S GOLD MEDAL WON'T REPLACE TICKETS

ROME (AP) — The great Jesse Owens, who won four Gold Medals for the United States at the 1936 Olympics in Berlin, can't get into the Rome Olympics as a reporter.

The one-time star, however, is getting a warm welcome otherwise.

Owens' application for accreditation as a reporter for Ebony, an American magazine, was turned down.

"Too late," said a spokesman for the U.S. Olympic Committee, "We accredited all American correspondents on a first-come, first-served basis."

Hebert, Campbell Set Blazing Pace

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Lionel Hebert and 24-year-old Joe Campbell of New York City shot eight-under-par 64s Thursday to tie for the first round lead in the $30,000 St. Paul Open golf tournament.

They held a two-stroke margin over five others who toured the rain-softened course in six-under-par 66. They were Don Fairfield, Billy Casper, Cary Middlecoff, Gary Player and Frank Wharton of Dallas, Tex.

There were 65 in the starting field of 147 who broke par 36-36—72 over the 6,557 yards of Keller golf course and 17 more equalled regulation figures.

Hebert putted as well as he has in years and holed six putts ranging from 10 to 40 feet. Putting carried Campbell to his low score as he one-putted 10 greens.

Defending champion Mike Souhak was one of a dozen at 69 and Sam Snead was one of 10 others at 68.

Goalie McCartan Inks Ranger Pact
NEW YORK (AP) — Goaltie Jack McCartan, hero of the United States' Olympic Hockey victory at Squaw Valley, Calif., last winter, has signed a 1960-61 contract with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, general manager Muzz Patrick said Thursday.

McCartan, 23, who in the last two years has won practically every important title race in the United States, besides amassing an almost unparalleled series of fast clockings.

Not a particularly fast starter, McCartan is almost unbeatable once he gets rolling.

and the Games start next Thursday.

The vast stadiums and arenas cost $32,000,000. There are nearly 8,000 athletes from 87 countries. Everything is the biggest and best ever.

And on the afternoon of Aug. 25, with all the pomp and panoply that the Olympics can marshal, the Games of the XVIII Olympiad will open before 100,000 in the great bowl-shaped Olympic Stadium.

Tight Pitch Ruins Perfect Game Bid

Braves' Veteran Throws No-Hitter Against Phillies

By Associated Press

Outside of the Brooklyn-Los Angeles Dodgers, no club has been tougher for Lew Burdette than the Philadelphia Phillies in his 10-year National League career.

Yet it was against the Phillies that the lanky Milwaukee right-hander pitched his first no-hitter Thursday night, winning 1-0 and coming within one pitch—a fifth-inning slider that was just a little too close—of a perfect game.

That slider, an inside pitch that was too far inside, hit Tony Gonzalez on the shoulder with one out in the fifth, making the Phil's rookie the only man to reach base. A strange double play then nailed Gonzalez and Burdette, who struck out three, faced the minimum 27 batters.

SET UP RUN

It was Burdette, too, who scored the run, getting a double in the eighth inning and scoring on Billy Bruton's two-bagger that beat ex-Brave Gene Conley.

Despite Burdette's near-perfect performance, the second place Braves remained 7½ games behind front-running Pittsburgh. The Pirates won their fourth in a row, coming from behind for a 3-2 decision at Cincinnati on a three-run, pinch-hit home run by Dick Stuart that gave Vern Law his 18th victory. Los Angeles moved past idle St. Louis into third place, nine games back, with a 13-inning, 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs on Wally Moon's home run.

NOT BIGGEST THRILL

Burdette, finding the no-hitter just a shade less of a thrill than his clinching third victory over the New York Yankees in the seventh game of the 1957 World Series, now has a career record of 140 victories and 89 defeats. Nineteen of those losses came against the Phils, a second division club for all but three of his 10 years in the NL.

Only the Dodgers, constant contenders in that span, hold more decisions over Burdette, winning 20 of 36.

And of his two one-hitters in the majors, one was a 1-0 loss to the Phillies, June 16, 1957, on a misjudged fly ball. The other was a 5-1 victory over the Dodgers, May 12, 1954.

This time, Burdette, 33, had the last place Phils chopping his sliders, curves, screwballs and occasional fast balls into the ground. Only four were hit to the outfield as he extended his shutout string to 20 innings after beating San Francisco 3-0 with a five-hitter Sunday.

TRIED FOR THIRD
One of those chops, by Lee Walls, bounced high to third after Gonzalez had been hit in the fifth. Ed Mathews threw out Walls, and the speedy Gonzalez, trying to take advantage of the wait for the ball to come down, was nailed on Joe Adcock's peg to shortstop Johnny Logan as he attempted to make third.

Burdette, 14-7 for the season, and Bruton, each had two of Milwaukee's 10 hits off Conley, who like Burdette, didn't walk a man.

In the American League, New York Yankees won their fourth straight to grab a 2½ game lead over Chicago White Sox. The Yankees defeated Boston Red Sox 11-7, while the White Sox blew a five-run lead to lose 8-6 to Cleveland.

In other games, Baltimore Orioles tied for second with a 10-8 victory over Washington, while Detroit Tigers walloped Kansas City Athletics 11-6.

Early Margin To Bergstrom
Con Bergstrom led members of the Royal Canadian Navy Golf Association as he fired a low gross 79 in defence of the Ontario Cup, Thursday, at Gorge Vale Golf Club.

Capt. J. Osborn, CPO Dave Pumphreys and CPO O. Fox all shot net 71's to tie for the lead for the Corby-Wiser low net trophy.

The 54-hole tournament winds up today at Uplands.

Canadian Cagers Bow to Czechs

BOLOGNA, Italy (CP) — A sharp-shooting Czechoslovakian team defeated Canada 74-67 on Thursday night in the pre-Olympic basketball tournament trials.

In another match in the qualifying finals, Hungary came from behind to beat Israel 86-78.

The Czechs scored consistently on drives through the centre of the spread defence on accurate feeding of waiting pivotmen, and on fast breaks when Canada didn't retreat soon enough.

The Canadians didn't shoot well enough to make their five-man weave attack pay off, and Czech rebounders started manoeuvres that gave Canada no time to get set on defence.

John Ingladson was high for Canada with 12 points.

Canada was as far as 14 points behind in the second half and never got closer than the seven points—the final margin.

No Quarterback, Primo on Block

VANCOUVER — B.C. Lions, of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, have placed halfback Primo Villanueva on the trading block in a move to reduce the team's playing roster to the required 40.

Villanueva, who didn't play with the club last season, tried out this year for quarterback.

RESTAURANTS NOT CROWDED

Traffic Jams May Appease Romans

ROME (AP) — One week before the start of the biggest Olympic Games open, Rome lies shimmering in the summer sun with no outward signs of pressure.

Restaurants are not crowded, hotels still have vacant rooms although the major ones are booked solid for the Games, and tourists are no more plentiful than usual. Only the flags and the athletes in their bright uniforms prove that the Games are near.

Could these Games be something of a failure? Everything argues against it but the citizens of Rome would like to see more definite proof.

Already $3,500,000 worth of tickets have been sold—more money, in advance, than any other Games took in throughout. But there are still seats available in the glistening marble and concrete stadiums, and the Games start next Thursday.

The vast stadiums and arenas cost $32,000,000. There are nearly 8,000 athletes from 87 countries. Everything is the biggest and best ever.

Rome itself looks pretty much as it always does. Rome has not tried to cover up for the Games. Despite the mutterings of the Communists, the stone columns at the entrance of the main Olympic arena bears the words "Mussolini Dux."

Horsemen Give Go-Ahead Sign For Island Meet

B.C. horsemen have accepted a cut in purses, so the Sandown Park racing meet will go as scheduled, Sept. 17 to Oct. 10.

Bill Randall, president of Vancouver's Asot Jockey Club Ltd., announced Thursday that negotiations with the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association have been successful.

Purses will be cut to $500 in hopes of reducing the $5,000 loss suffered by the operators of the Sandown track last year. In 1959 purses were $550.

Randall stated that "horsemen have agreed to our first schedule and, as a result, we will issue applications for stall reservations Friday."

It is anticipated that more than 300 horses will be available for the Vancouver Island racing season.

Yearly deficits, and a fear of falling pari-mutuel totals, had prompted the jockey club to propose that the Sandown meet be cancelled and that the

SIGNED BY Washington Senators, Gene Curtis will appear with Fort Lewis, Wash., army team when it meets Victoria Pages in a doubleheader Saturday at Royal Athletic Park. Curtis played Class "B" baseball before stepping in army. Game times will be 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Hot 'Pegs Won't Give Fading Roses a Chance

WINNIPEG (CP)—Calgary Stampede, who have gained a reputation as morning glories with their fast starts in past Western Interprovincial Football Union seasons, looked more like the last roses of summer as they were trampled 50-7 Thursday night by Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

If there was anyone still worried about the Stampede making another fast start and fading in the stretch, Winnipeg halfback Carver Shannon must have dispelled their last fears with a 22-point scoring spree against the Cowboys. He had three touchdowns and four converts.

It was the second straight win for the defending Grey Cup champions over Calgary, whose other start this year ended in a tie with Saskatchewan Roughriders. Winnipeg also has beaten British Columbia Lions and is firmly atop the WIFU standings.

FARMERS EDGED AGAIN

Gorge's March Most Upsetting

If it's an upset you want, Central Park's senior "A" men's softball final has it.

Nobody's more upset than Farmer Construction.

Gorge Hotel, a distant last in regular league play, won their best-of-five semifinal from Mayo Lumber in three straight games. Now it looks as if they might repeat in the best-of-seven series against Farmers.

The Gorgemans claimed their second straight victory Thursday night, scoring all their runs in the third inning and then holding on for a 2-1 win.

WARGO SHINES

Once again iron-man Stan Wargo had a big hand in the victory, retiring 17 men in a row before Tom Bourne's single drove him to the showers in the sixth.

Wargo has now been instrumental in five straight playoff wins for the Gorge crew.

The Gorge runs came after Stan Stewart singled and Vern Evans got on base through an error. Archie Sluggett drove both in from second and third with a towering sacrifice fly to right field.

Maycock Optical, meanwhile, won its first game in the best-of-five senior "B" final at Heywood Avenue Park by beating Victoria will be favored—and how!—to walk away with the Vancouver Island midget lacrosse championship when it meets Nanaimo in the second game of their two-game, total-goals series at Stevenson Park Sunday.

The Victoria boys clambered over the Hub City crew, 20-1, as Greg Schroeder and Keith Campbell each fired four goals.

Dennis Begley kept Nanaimo scoreless for three periods.

With the score 19-0, Russell Johnston took over the goal and gave up only one goal.

Three-goal performances were turned in by Bob Handy-side and Doug Little, while Allan Mottishaw scored twice. Dennis Sumner, Terry Strippson, Dennis Sproule and Dennis Flynn all scored once.

Olympic Flame Reaches Italy

SYRACUSE, Italy (Reuters)—The Olympic flame, symbol of international sport, Thursday reached Italian soil from Greece aboard the full-rigged Italian sailing ship Amerigo Vespucci.

It will be carried by runners from this ancient Greek colony to Rome, where its entry will be the signal for the start of the 17th Olympiad Aug. 25.

TEST CRICKET

Struggle for Runs

LONDON (Reuters)—England, which won the toss for the 10th time in succession, the longest run since test cricket started in 1877, struggled for runs on a rain-affected pitch on the first day of the fifth cricket test against South Africa at the Oval here Thursday.

England was 131 for eight when bad light ended 10 minutes before the close. The English side won the first three Tests and drew the fourth.

SMITH STILL IN FRONT

Mawle All Set to Narrow Gap

Stock cars return to Western Speedway this Saturday, and no one is more anxious to get back into the driver's seat than Bob Mawle.

The Victoria driver of a Fanny Bay car has been enjoying his greatest season this year, and there were suspicions in some quarters that it was because the machine's motor was a bit "hotter" than the rule books allow.

The suspicions proved to be unfounded after a check and the Vancouver Island Track Racing Association gave Mawle's machine a clean bill of health.

But there is no denying that the machine has plenty of "oomph." Mawle has moved the car—which last year did not finish in the top ten—into second spot in the battle for individual driving honors, according to latest figures released by VITRA.

It represents a great up-hill climb but Mawle is not yet satisfied, and he will be trying to cut the gap between himself and Victoria's Al Smith when the cars roll Saturday.

Mawle has 243 points; Smith leads with 282½. It is not a margin that can be made up in a hurry, but Bob still has time to do it before the season ends if he continues at his present pace.

In third spot is Bob Clarke of Nanaimo, with 225½ points, 24½ better than Dick Varley.

STOCKERS ROLL SATURDAY

Bill Foster is fifth with 158½. Red Burke, Doug Bowell, Dave Cooper, Jim Milner and Hank Neilson round out the top ten.

Time trials Saturday get under way at 7:30 p.m.

Road Network Seen for V.I.

PORT McNEILL—A complete road network through Vancouver Island was predicted Thursday by Recreation Minister Earle Westwood, but he didn't set any time limit.

He made the statement at Campbell River during a tour in which more than 45 Island tourism boosters travelled 270 miles by bus and boat to Port McNeill in 12 hours.

The port is on the Island's northern end.

The tour marked official start of a four-time-weekly service from one end of the Island to the other.

There were celebrations at Alert Bay, Duncan Bay and Kelsey Bay en route.

THIS YEAR
Dan Campbell, Social Credit candidate for Comox, said the road from Port McNeill to Port Alice would be open this year, and also from Port McNeill to Beaver Cove.

The tour members, including Victoria's Mayor Percy Scurrah, left Victoria at 8 a.m. by V.I. Coach Lines bus and drove to Kelsey Bay, where they boarded Uchuk III for the 65-mile boat trip to Port McNeill.

The tour was to prove feasibility of a one-day trip the length of the Island.

A 40-mile road connects Port McNeill with Port Hardy further to the north.

DUNCAN—Three businesses have indicated they will appeal their business tax assessments at the court of revision Tuesday, Sept. 6, in the City Hall at 10 a.m.

Barbara C. Fawcett, operator of a wool and children's wear shop at 141 Canada Avenue, the Modern Beauty Shop at 175 Station Street, and Roberts Munro and Company, a firm of chartered accountants at 179 Station Street will appeal.

City council fixed the percentage rate of the annual rental value of business property at 5.5 per cent to enable the business tax bylaw to function at a set rate.

Rental values of the three appeals are as follows: Barbara C. Fawcett, $315; Modern Beauty Shop, $1,115; and Roberts Munro and Company, $1,930.

DUNCAN—William Jack Ashley, Duncan, was fined $50 in Duncan police court Thursday on two assault charges arising out of a fight in a cafe.

He was charged first with assaulting his wife with a web belt. The second charge concerned an attempt to choke the proprietor of the cafe, Wat Kent, who had intervened in the first instance.

Ashley explained his wife had been out with another man while he was away at Camp Vernon taking militia training with the Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) Regiment.

"I can understand that but you can't take the law into your own hands," Magistrate A. C. Sutton said. "He is only a little bit of a fellow, too."

The incident took place Tuesday.

DUNCAN—Dale Leroy Plunet, Duncan, Thursday, was fined $25 or 20 days and paid $5 court costs on conviction before Magistrate A. C. Sutton on a charge of being a minor with beer in his possession.

DUNCAN—Ross Jerome Barkley, Koksilah, Thursday was fined $25 or 20 days and paid $5.50 court costs after

METERS 'OUT' FOR FUNFEST

DUNCAN—Parking meters will be covered here today and Saturday during the two-day celebration marking the opening of the city's Government Street 150-car parking lot.

Pony rides for children together with mechanical rides have been set up with half-price admission. Tonight a bingo game will be held on the lot, followed by a dance.

RCMP reported Barkley's vehicle "rolled over several times in a field on the left side of the road" at Riverside Road in Cowichan Station Aug. 7.

DUNCAN—All candidates so far nominated in the Cowichan-Newcastle riding will appear at a joint meeting here in the Eagles' Hall Sept. 6, starting at 8 p.m.

Candidates are incumbent CCF MLA Robert Strachan, Social Credit Mrs. Hazel Fee, Communist Hjalmar Bergen and Conservative John Keronne.

YOUNG—Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Garrod today are celebrating their 65th wedding anniversary.

Both born in St. Thomas, Ont., they have lived in B.C. 42 years.

On hand for the celebration were sons and daughters, Lloyd Garrod and Mrs. Cyril Hague, both of Campbell River; Stanley of Vancouver, Nellie of Hazelton and Ruth of Youbou.

'It's Doctors' Duty'

Victoria CCF candidate Neil Hindle said Thursday night he could see no reason why doctors would not accept a pre-paid medical plan in British Columbia.

"The duty of the Canadian Medical Association and its provincial affiliates is to provide the highest standards in medicine," he told a CCF election rally.

"The CCF as a government would merely look after the economic aspects of the plan."

Oil was discovered in southeastern New Mexico in 1927. Lea County, centre of the production area, today produces crude oil worth over $200,000,000 a year.

THEY WENT, THEY SAW—AND THEY'LL BE HOME SATURDAY

"An unforgettable experience, and they're all coming home with a greater understanding of the world and Canada." So says Roy Mercer, Oak Bay High School teacher who is in charge of 166 Greater Victoria high school and university students returning Saturday from a seven-week tour of Britain and seven countries in Europe. Pictures above were sent to the Times by the students. At left, a group of students are shown at Stonehenge, site of an ancient temple and still the centre of a religious cult. Centre picture shows two students lining up a camera shot of the famous Cheddar Gorge. At right, a group is pictured outside St. Matthias' College residence. The last week in England was left free to give the students an opportunity to look up relatives or do anything else they wanted. They are expected to arrive in Vancouver at 9 a.m. Saturday and are due in Victoria on the 3.30 p.m. CPR Princess ferry docking at the Inner Harbor wharves.

MONTE ROBERTS

One of the great advantages Thinking, Intelligent, Humans have over poor, dumb, animals is, Humans are able to worry.

poor, dumb animals haven't enough sense to worry. poor, dumb animals couldn't worry even if they had enough sense to want to.

As for Thinking, Intelligent Humans, they are seldom at a loss for something to worry about. Even if it is how to end a sentence not a preposition with.

When Thinking, Intelligent Humans run out of things to worry about—such as whether beans are better than chile con carne as the staple stock in a fall-out shelter—they can always turn to worrying about what they should worry about.

This, of course, is the nadir of worrying—worrying about not having much to worry about, and therefore being worried beyond all conscience, simply for the lack of worry.

I count myself fortunate in this regard. I was tidying up my desk the other day, and I came upon this unfinished sentence, unmistakably typed by me, reposing all by itself on a piece of copy paper:

"What, as the curator of the zoo said to the"

There is something a worrier can get his teeth into. What was the intention behind this embryonic rhetoric?

What did the zoo-keeper say to whom? or what? When did he say it? Why did I put 32 letters of the alphabet in that particular order, and leave them there to moulder?

Did deathless prose die a-borning? Have I cheated the loyal constituents of the just rewards of their patience by following me thus far?

As I go to sleep, tonight, I shall do so worrying about what the curator of the zoo said to the poor, dumb, animals that they are.

As for the poor, dumb, animals; they will just curl up, in a corner and go to sleep, with not a thing to worry about.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, AUGUST 19, 1960—PAGE 13

VOTE LIST JUMPS HIGH IN SAANICH

A total of 862,293 British Columbians are eligible to vote in the Sept. 12 provincial election.

An increase of more than 10 per cent from the 1956 total was disclosed today in an estimate by electoral officials.

The 1956 total was 778,587. Saanich showed one of the province's biggest jumps in its voters' list.

The total of eligible voters there is 30,060, up 7,510.

The overall provincial total contains estimates for seven ridings—including all Greater Vancouver—and 1956 figures for the ridings of Cariboo, Comox, Cranbrook, Fort George and Salmon Arm.

These areas have not yet submitted totals.

All other ridings have submitted a final count.

Total of Greater Victoria voters is 89,884.

Of these Oak Bay has 12,832, an increase of 2,321; Esquimalt has jumped 2,175 to 14,883 and Victoria has an increase of 607 to 32,109.

These figures reflect the population growth.

Victoria has changed little, but Saanich has been the area with the big residential expansion.

The Greater Vancouver total—based on an estimate from its registrar—is 360,242 for six ridings. That's an increase of 25,509 from 1956.

Two Teen-Agers Carried Burglar Tools

A pair of teen-aged Victoria boys were found guilty in Saanich police court Thursday of possessing burglar tools, found when they were checked by police at 2 a.m. Aug. 5.

William James Lynch, 19, of 1347 Gladstone, and David Howard Ward, 18, of 2411 Quadra, were remanded in custody to next week for probation reports and sentence.

Lynch, an unemployed logger, and Ward, who is an apprentice sheet metal worker, were stopped by Esquimalt police at Tillicum and Gorge when they said they were out for a walk and on their way home. One gave a false address.

Each carried a heavy-duty screwdriver and Lynch had a broken padlock in his pocket.

Court was told by the proprietor of Tillicum Meat Market, 2904 Tillicum, that the lock had been taken from a steel gate on his premises.

TWO-NATION FLEET OFF TO PNE

A 13-ship international "fleet" cleared the RCN's Esquimalt Harbor today on "Operation PNE."

Bound for the Pacific National Exhibition opening Saturday at Vancouver, the fleet including Royal Canadian Navy destroyers, frigates, and minesweepers, and five United States Navy minesweepers.

They were to pass under the Lions' Gate bridge and into Vancouver Harbor at 6 p.m.

The Canadian ships taking part are the destroyer escorts Ottawa and Saguenay; the frigates Sussexvale and Ste. Therese; and minesweepers Fortune, James Bay, Miramichi, and Cowichan.

The U.S. minesweepers are Acme, Conquest, Esteem, Pledge, and Gallant.

Labor Boss Warning Issued by Bennett In Election Attack

By FRANK RUTTER

Premier Bennett today ripped into his political opponents for making "pie in the sky" promises and warned "international labor bosses" are moving in to take over the CCF.

"The people of B.C. should watch closely... these international labor bosses moving in to take over the CCF," he said at a press conference.

He was referring to plans of the CCF to merge with Canadian labor into a new party. A number of CCF candidates in the Sept. 12 election campaign are labor representatives.

"Very soon they will have a new party," said Mr. Bennett.

"Socialism always makes for compulsion," he said, commenting on a proposal by CCF leader Robert Strachan to take over B.C. Electric.

"The CCF wants to run everything and tell you what to do."

The premier said "it reminds me of certain people in other parts of the world today," but he didn't say where.

If services are taken over by the state, he said, "where will they stop?"

Mr. Bennett also sniped at the Liberal proposal to hoist school taxes from property owners.

HAVEN'T DONE IT
It is a policy, he said, which "governments of the same stripe in other provinces haven't been able to come up with."

If it was so easy to do, "why haven't they done it?"

Liberals under new leader Ray Perrault are "promising the moon" but under his predecessor Arthur Laing, it was "just the opposite."

Then the government was accused of spending too much, said Mr. Bennett.

"Two or three years of their

Premier Plans 'Big Meeting' At Vancouver

A meeting at Nanaimo and "the big one" at Vancouver were announced today by Premier Bennett in his re-election campaign.

His date in Nanaimo is at the Capitol Theatre on Sept. 2.

The rally in Vancouver is "the big meeting" on the Premier's birthday, Sept. 6. It will be in the Orpheum Theatre.

After his return from northern B.C. next week, the premier will address meetings in Victoria, (Royal Theatre) on Friday, Aug. 26, in West Vancouver Aug. 29, and New Westminster Aug. 31.

From Sept. 6 to polling day Sept. 12, the premier said "I've got something planned but it's not all lined up yet."

The premier said he was "really enjoying" the prospect of campaigning again.

He is "confident" of victory.

type of government (with Liberal promises) would just ruin the credit of the province."

Mr. Bennett again disclaimed any knowledge of plans to go ahead on Peace River hydro development. These plans are by "a private company" he said.

"I laugh at people who call the premier a dictator one minute and the next minute say the premier must do something, he said.

Of the Opposition in general: "None of them run on the past record of their parties. They come out with pie in the sky promises."

LONGSHOREMEN

New Pact Features Guarantee

Five locals of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union are balloting today on a proposed agreement with the B.C. Federation of Shipping which includes a guaranteed annual minimum hours of work clause.

Three of the locals are on Vancouver Island, at Victoria, Nanaimo and Alberni.

The other two are at Vancouver and New Westminster.

Ballots will be counted at Vancouver Monday.

Negotiating committees of both union and the federation have recommended acceptance of the contract, which provides for 1,820 hours of work per man for the year commencing Aug. 1, 1960, and ending Aug. 1, 1961, at the current rate of $2.78 per hour.

NORMAL VOLUME
The minimum guarantee applies only if the volume of cargo handled is "normal," and there is provision to take care of abnormally light cargoes from unavoidable causes.

Union negotiators sought the guarantee in view of improved machinery for cargo handling, such as "packaged" lumber loading recently developed.

'Flying Fish' Finally Heads for Home Port

The Flying Fish, a hydrofoil cruiser scheduled for high-speed passenger runs between Victoria and Bellingham, left Portland today after six weeks of fitting out and testing.

She was heading for Bellingham, her home port. Among passengers on the run were Mayor Robert Westford of Bellingham, an enthusiastic booster for the "stilt-walking" craft, and the owner, Dr. Frank A. Calderone of Great Neck, N.Y.

The Flying Fish is on three-month lease to a U.S. syndicate represented by Murray Mason, also a passenger on today's run.

Victoria representative is Harbor Marine, whose docks at the west end of Johnson Street bridge will be used as a terminus.

After a run down the Columbia from Portland to Astoria, the Flying Fish was to head out into the Pacific and swing north to Bellingham.

Further sea trials out of that port will follow, then the craft will come to Victoria, probably next week, to show her paces.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A 68-year-old veteran of two wars walked out of Victoria Curling Rink Thursday night richer by $600 than when he went in.

Hugh Murray, 226 Simms, a pensioner, was the big winner at a bingo game sponsored by the Noon Optimists Club.

"It's just wonderful," Mr. Murray said today. "Now I can do a few things I couldn't do on my pension."

Two Vancouver Island men were among 29 RCMP rookies who graduated from Regina barracks this week.

They are J. G. Delvin of Victoria, and D. W. Calverson, of Nanaimo.

Premier Bennett today announced a $3 pass will go into effect "right away" for all toll bridges and the Deas Island tunnel.

The pass will be good for 20 trips, he told a press conference, an average of 15 cents a trip.

At present some bridges are more, some less than this.

The new pass will be "perpetual—there's no time limit," said Mr. Bennett.

Passes are "at the printers" and will be issued at all toll stations as soon as they are printed.

An outing of the younger group of the Junior Natural History Society Saturday is cancelled. Junior group leaders are camping at Miracle Beach.

Victoria Branch, Canadian Mental Health Association, is holding a special meeting in the medical lecture room of Royal Jubilee Hospital, Aug. 23 at 7.30 p.m.

The meeting will feature a special film entitled "Stigma" to be followed by a panel discussion.

The film discusses whether progress in this field is held up because of lack of understanding and knowledge.

The View Royal Garden Club fall show will be held in the community hall Aug. 26 and 27.

The show will start at 2 p.m. Aug. 26.

On display will be flowers, fruits, and vegetables and home cooking.

There will be prizes for all events.

Four RCN frogmen from HMCS Naden today were scheduled to search Sprout Lake for the body of 15-year-old Douglas Chidlow, Luxton Road, who drowned Tuesday while fishing in the lake.

Meanwhile, the body of Frederick Bennett, 74, of Gerald Island south of Parksville who drowned in a boating accident Monday has still not been recovered.

Kenneth E. Arnold, 132 Ontario, was remanded for sentence Monday in city police court today after pleading guilty to a charge of assaulting a police officer.

Constable Albert W. Cave told the court that early this morning he noticed Arnold and an unidentified woman arguing in a doorway in the 600 block Pandora.

When he intervened, the constable said, he was struck on the chest and then struck "several times about the head and shoulders" before subduing the man.

Butcher's Ingenuity Makes Budget Balancing Easy!

By PENNY SAVER

Although beef prices have been stuck away above the "penny saving" mark for quite a while now one downtown butcher has had quite a problem getting rid of brisket beef, once more expensive cuts have been sold. He's solved his problem in a way that means big savings to you. At the end of each day, he takes the fresh brisket beef and prepares it into the most delicious corned beef you've ever tasted. This, believe it or not, sells for only 19 cents a pound—and there's a new supply every day.

Local fowl are another good buy at 32 cents a pound. If you are hankering for a tasty roast this weekend you couldn't do better than try a shoulder of spring lamb. These are priced at 39 cents a pound.

Same enterprising butcher has also decided to give a helping hand to the many animal lovers in our city. Any healthy dog loves a good meal that contains lots of meat, marrow and scraps. You can get your favorite Fido two pounds of such a mixture for just 25 cents.

If, on the other hand, it's an independent cat that takes first place in your pet family you'll be interested in the special mixture for cats, priced at 35 cents for two pounds. Kitty's independent spirit will crumble into enthusiastic affection when he or she tastes this mix that has at least one-third amount of kidney.

Although the halibut season, working on a quota basis, has been over for some time one particular district has been reopened and you can now get slices of this white fish for only 55 cents a pound. For the gourmets, red sockeye salmon is now in plentiful supply. This is selling at 85 cents a pound.

Green vegetables are both interesting and plentiful this weekend. Broad beans are a wonderful buy at 29 cents for two pounds while green beans sell at 45 cents for two pounds. Scarlet runners and wax beans are available at the same price.

To help busy women who are already planning to do some pickling there are pickling cucumbers priced at 29 cents for two pounds, onions at 49 cents for two pounds and chili peppers that sell at 49 cents a pound.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "I am a teen-ager. My hands perspire so much that it is a problem. It is quite embarrassing when I am dancing with a boy. Please tell me what to do."

A. This may come from nervousness. Perhaps you have not been going to dances for long and your difficulty will disappear when you feel more at ease. However an application of Burrows powder added to water will help. Follow directions.

Q. "Should a woman wear her bra to bed?"

A. It does not sound very comfortable to me and I suppose it might be irritating in positions assumed during sleep. I suggest that you do not do so.

Q. "Would you please tell me of a really good exercise which will develop the bust and not the muscles in the bust?"

A. There is no food that will develop the bust. I actually have no bust at all but plenty heavy every place with a boy. Please tell me what to do.

A. The bust has no muscles and therefore we cannot develop them. However the chest muscles which lie underneath the bust can be increased in size and this makes the bust look more prominent and increases the bust measurement.

Q. "Does riding a bicycle reduce the thighs?"

A. No, I do not think so, except that all exercise burns up energy and is therefore helpful in a general reduction of weight.

Q. "Three years ago I had a baby and did not exercise afterwards. Now I have a large abdomen. It isn't so awfully large but big enough so that I don't look nice in my clothes. Is it possible to have a flat tummy without wearing a girdle? I can't stand them!"

A. Yes, if you are overweight, lose the extra pounds, and take abdominal exercises faithfully every day.

DEAR ABBY

Good Samaritan

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There is in my neighborhood a 15-year-old boy who is as nice a young man as you would care to meet. He comes to "talk things over" with me because his father died when he was small. (I am a 62-year-old man.)

Abby, this boy's mother is a fine, intelligent woman (an executive secretary) but she is ruining her son's life. She tells him he is "the man of the house". She still picks out all his clothes. She cuts him off from young people — especially girls. He once asked her why she didn't try to find a nice man and remarry and she told him she was devoting her life to him, and she didn't need a husband.

This boy is bright, mannerly and handsome. He yearns to be a normal 15-year-old boy but is cast in the role of his mother's private property. Would you, if you were I, talk to his mother about it?

JUST A NEIGHBOR
DEAR NEIGHBOR: I would: If she is "fine and intelligent," she'll hear you out. Otherwise, she'll throw you out. You've nothing to lose and the boy has so much to gain. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: What would you think if every time you went to visit a certain friend, she put up her ironing board when you got there and said, "I'll iron while we visit." Don't you think it is rude to treat a friend like that?

TIED OF IT
DEAR TIED: Your friend isn't ironing for the fun of it. Obviously her ironing is a pressing matter. A "close" friend wouldn't complain. She'd help.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 22 I started dating a married man. We fell in love, I stuck with him for 16 years because I always had the feeling he would divorce his wife. He never did. I am now 38.

I have no friends and no outside interests. My own family won't have anything to do with me. Please Abby, tell those nice little single girls for me that if a married man shows an interest in them to run the other way! All I have for my 16 years is a broken heart, broken promises and a few presents.

TOO LATE
DEAR TOO: I will print your letter with the hope that some young woman will read it and profit from your very expensive lesson. It's here for the price of this newspaper.

A Pioneer Died Yesterday; Under Tracks of Bulldozer

By ELIZABETH FORBES

I'm saying farewell to an old friend today. A friend I've known since I was a small girl and given to playing hopscotch and racing up and down the street with other small girls.

Over the years I have watched this friend grow in beauty and strength, and somehow I've gained a feeling of strength from the contact.

Of recent years I'm afraid I've not seen so much of my friend. It's been more of a passing acquaintance. But always, I've been conscious of increasing growth and beauty. Now I have watched that friend die.

I'm talking of a tree that stood at the southwest corner of Blanshard Street and Princess Avenue. A tree that shaded several generations of children as they played under its softly swaying branches.

Progress caught up with it yesterday and it was hauled out, toppled over with its roots bared to the sky and then cut into pieces—no doubt to be burned in someone's furnace.

No one stopped to think of the history of this tree. No one cared enough.

Yet it was truly one of the city's pioneers and as such should have been preserved and honored.

Came Around the Horn in Ship

Story is that, as a tiny-stripling, it came around The Horn in a sailing ship—safely tucked in a flower pot filled with the earth of Old England.

It was planted where it died, and a small cottage was built beside it by Sam Sea, who became one of the city's pioneer clothiers.

Later, when Mr. Louis Stenler (owner of the Pioneer Coffee and Spice Mills that once stood on Pembroke Street between Douglas and Government) bought the cottage from Mr. Sea, he got his brother-in-law, James Smethurst, early builder and contractor in the city, to add an upstairs to the cottage.

The Stenler family grew up in the two-storey house, pulled down a couple of years ago. The tree grew, too, until finally its delicate trailing branches (it was of the weeping variety) reached above the roof and spread out over the road.

In those days Princess Avenue was a street of fine homes where well-known Victoria families, including the Halls, the Kinsmens, the Ashwells and the Scotts lived.

Their young people were among those who played under the tree.

Well, it's gone now. No doubt progress will see a big building erected over the spot where it lived, so, even the small rootlets that escaped the bulldozer will die. There will be no tiny seedlings to plant in a flower pot and take to another new home.

The tree has gone with many another pioneer landmark that we, in our shortsightedness—or our careless disregard for history—have not made any attempt to preserve for future generations to see.

Evening elegance, the glistening satin peau de soie double-breasted greatcoat with stupendous flap pockets and shawl collar. Added fullness is achieved by a three-gore back. Featured this Toronto Fashions week at the Guild of All Arts.

Brown Edges Out Black In Canadian Fashions

By NONA DAMASKE

(Special to The Times) — As Canadian fashion editors bid each other a fond farewell and return to their offices across Canada, opinion seems to be that the first Toronto Fashion Press gathering has been "successful. We saw an average cross-section of Toronto designed and manufactured fashions."

Damaske

The night before leaving everyone gathered on the flagstone terrace of the Guild Hall for "High Fashion Presentation." Each participating manufacturer chose the most avant garde style in his collection. As the models paraded from terrace to lawn with the sparkling water of Lake Ontario in the background, Mrs. Joy McGillawee, commentator, pointed out that not all these garments had won buyers' acceptance and some would end their days on the discard racks but the manufacturer still presented them with pride.

Following the presentation we were guests of the Dress Manufacturers' Guild at a wonderful black tie dinner party in the Guild Hall. A warm, friendly greeting was given us by Nathan Phillips, Mayor of Toronto, who said how important the garment industry was to Toronto and how pleased he was that we had come to see for ourselves the garments that would find their way into the clothes cupboards of Canada.

We have seen—wearing—in price from $30 to $100. These clothes are not gasp-getters but they are the clothes in which the average Canadian woman will feel at home.

Brown has replaced black as the top-selling color. The entire brown family is in this picture, from the palest beige to the richest chocolate. Brown has no time barrier, it is fashion right from early morning to late evening.

Bronzed brown taffetas and bitter chocolate chiffons brought this shade into the cocktail and formal designs. Green is second in importance... yellowed-greens are in and greyed or blackened greens are being tried. Purple is the startling thrust and plum purple is aimed at making you "plumb beautiful."

Wools are brushed and deep piled... tweeds are cobbled and popcorned. Crepes are grainy and there is a showing of ribbed Ottoman. Knits are joining in popularity, the newest being double knits and gauze knits. Stripes, especially in the sportswear collection, are wide and colorful. As a matter of fact, the sportswear collections were far more daring in style and color than any other group.

There is an interesting new sleeve being used by makers of coats and winter suits. Called the telescopic sleeve, it may be worn long or telescoped into the higher style short sleeve.

Miss Maclure Says 'Goodbye'

By PAT DUFOUR

Her sister Catherine was sick so Miss Merione Maclure—better known as Kitty—agreed to substitute for her as librarian at the Empress Hotel for one month.

Today, Miss Maclure's "temporary" job came to an end—a full 33 years later. The first 11 years of these were spent as librarian, the remaining 22 as night telephone operator.

Looking back on her days as librarian Kitty smilingly explains how she managed to master her job.

"Unlike my sister—I wasn't much of a reader in those days but I used to ask guests about the books they returned and what they told me I used to repeat to the next one who enquired."

What books were most read? Detective stories says Miss Maclure. "Doctors, lawyers and many professional men like mystery stories to unwind with."

"Number, please?" Kitty Maclure plugs in to one of her unseen friends during her last "day" as telephone operator at Empress Hotel.

MADE FRIENDS

A small annuity was left to Kitty by one of many friends made by her during those days. "She was an American and spent all the winters in the hotel. She was a wonderful person and every morning I'd find her sitting in the same chair in the library." Other friends took her on a long-remembered trip to Banff and Lake Louise.

Most interesting guest she met during her librarian days include the English actor, Sir John Martin Harvey, and his wife, and Ernest Raymond, still remembered for his First World War book, "Tell England."

THEY REMEMBER

Even her 22 years as night telephone operator didn't hurt Miss Maclure's ability for making friends.

"I've thoroughly enjoyed my years on the board. You make so many unseen friends. You'll phone a guest to give them their morning call. Next thing you know, they'll want to know how you are and what your name is. When they come back on their next trip they remember you, too."

Conventions keep the night telephone operators hopping says Miss Maclure.

"Delegates seem to love to spend the night hours phoning their friends. When there seems nothing left to do—then they love to tease the operator. But it's all fun."

She still remembers the first long distance call she put through. "It was to France and I got such a thrill, listening to the operators in different cities." Reason for the call—a guest was calling his wife in Paris in order to wish her a "Happy Birthday."

BABY SITTER

This versatile, friendly little woman has even done a baby-sitting stint from the board. "Two of our guests wanted to go to the dinner-dance so I agreed to plug into their number—the phone was right by their baby's crib—every four minutes. If I heard the baby wake up I was to let them know."

The baby slept soundly. Miss Maclure explains that baby-sitting is not common practice. "Just imagine having four such baby-sitting jobs on a busy night!"

Kitty's helping hand came to the rescue again when another guest arrived—minus his pyjamas. "They were a gift from his fiancée and he just didn't have the nerve to write and tell her he'd lost them. I finally traced them in Vancouver."

years—staff and guests—I love them all."

Warm-hearted as she is Kitty worried over the calls she'd have to put through to a doctor when guests were sick. "I think I fretted as much as they did. I always jotted down the time I called the doctor and wouldn't be able to rest until the elevator girl let me know that he'd arrived."

SO HUMBLE

Has Kitty inherited her talents? "Oh, no!" she says, "I haven't any talent at all. I'm just a humble telephone operator."

Those who know her best think differently. This afternoon representatives from every department of the hotel attended a tea party in her honor in the Duke of Kent Room. Charles Moore, assistant manager, presented her with a billfold and gift of money from the entire staff.

As she left for the party Kitty was still protesting that she hadn't done anything to deserve such honor.

ON NIGERIAN VISIT

Princess Alexandra Will Wear Kind of Clothes All Girls Buy

When Princess Alexandra goes to Nigeria at the end of September to represent Queen Elizabeth II at independence celebrations, she will take with her a new wardrobe of lovely summer dresses. Like most of the girls of her age in Britain she is buying nearly all of them ready-made. But one of the dress manufacturers, Mr. Leslie Kaye, who designs for a leading wholesale house in London, often makes her special adaptations from the advance models before he sells the latter to the stores in Britain. For the Princess's visit to Nigeria, however, he has been making her a whole collection of silk dresses and suits so that exact copies will not be seen in the stores afterwards. Not much special designing has been done. Princess Alexandra has simply chosen the skirt of one outfit and the jacket of another, and the two have been put together. Colors have been selected which specially suit her, and all the fabrics are ideal for Nigerian weather. Mr. Kaye is using beautifully clear colors which will look superb in that brilliant sunshine.

Naturally, the Princess is also having a few clothes from London's leading couturiers, Victor Stiebel, of 17 Cavendish Square, and John Cavanagh Ltd., 26, Curzon Street, London, W. 1 are both making her grand dresses for very important occasions, such as evening receptions, and the ball on Independence Day. But for the most part the Nigerians will see her wearing the kind of clothes which are on sale in Britain to ordinary girls.

Of Personal Interest

Visitors

Dr. Balfour B. Stralith and Mrs. Stralith and their daughter Susan, who came to Victoria this week from Beverley Hills, Calif., spent a day with Dr. Stralith's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stralith, before going on to Painter's Lodge at Campbell River for the fishing. Word received Wednesday was that Miss Susan had already caught a 27-pound spring. The visitors will return to Victoria on Sunday and will spend some time here before going south again. They will be at the Empress Hotel.

New Home

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Newbery, formerly of Kingsley Street, left Victoria early this week to make their new home at North Pine, near Fort St. John, B.C. Mr. Newbery will be joining the teaching staff of the school at North Pine.

'Bosses Want to Wipe Us Out'

The Social Credit "big money bosses" want to wipe out the Opposition in the Sept. 12 election, Saanich CCF candidate Pat Thomas told a public meeting in the Brentwood hall Thursday night.

"I and all other CCFers are confident the people want a stronger CCF representation," he said.

"The people know that CCF policies such as car insurance, decent medical care for all and public power—especially public ownership of the B.C. Electric—will only be achieved through election of CCF candidates."

"BOLD POLICY"

Mr. Thomas said the CCF cuts through the "welter of confusion" thrown up by other parties in its bold policy to take the school tax load off the local taxpayer.

"This has been CCF policy for more than a year and a half," he declared.

He said the CCF, in fighting for the people, is not "beholden" to rich men and big business slush funds for advertising.

"This is a good guarantee that the CCF will be able to carry out its election platform."

POPULAR POETRY readings to jazz accompaniment again will feature Prof. Tony Emery at The Scene, 1306 Wharf Street tonight and Saturday. Rodeo Top Event At Colorful PNE

VANCOUVER (CP)—With shortened to a hard-and-fast minimum. "A car with a piece of ribbon is not a float," said one official, and baton-twirling drill teams are out. Rear-Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, new flag officer of the RCN on the Pacific Coast, will take the salute. Later in the day, Premier W. A. C. Bennett will touch off a natural gas flame to officially open the fair.
The PNE rodeo, being held off the fair grounds at another stadium, offers a purse of $21,000, sixth largest in North America this year. Stock for the rodeo events arrived Wednesday, the same as that used at the Calgary stampede. Herman Linder, of Cardston, Alta., a veteran of riding and rodeo circles will manage the new event.
Other attractions during the Aug. 20-Sept. 5 fair will be daily flights by the RCAF's Golden Hawks aerobatic team, day-and-night demonstrations of totem pole carving, a reconstructed gold mine, tree-climbing and log-burling, bucking falling and sawing—all free.

10% Rate Cut In Takeover By B.C. Hydro

B.C. Hydro will cut electricity rates 10 per cent in Fort Nelson immediately, it was announced today as the publicly-owned company bought the existing plant there.

A Hydro spokesman said 250 customers would be affected. Takeover will be Sept. 29, with work starting now on a new powerhouse. An extra generator will be transferred from Dawson Creek.

NATURAL GAS
The purchase from Northland Utilities Ltd., also involves a commitment by B.C. Hydro to run natural gas distribution in Fort Nelson, a new venture announced last month.

This "is expected to follow completion of work on the electrical system," said Hydro. B.C. Hydro at same time bought Northland's smaller installation at Valemount, 200 miles north of Kamloops. Another 100 customers will be added and rates will be cut there by 5 per cent.

B.C. Hydro will take over operations in Valemount Sept. 21.

Saanich Liberals Pick Dark-Horse

Saanich Liberals Thursday night picked a last-minute nominee as their candidate for the provincial election Sept. 12. He is Frank Grieve, 32, of 3373 Henderson, an insurance man.

Two other nominees withdrew after Mr. Grieve's name was raised for the first time at a meeting attended by 77 persons in Victoria Liberal headquarters on Government St.

Saanich Liberal Association president James Gorst, a taxi driver, and Victoria Liberal president Sid Smith, another insurance man, declined nominations.

Mr. Grieve criticized candidates in the election who "changed coats" because "they feel they will do better in representing the people in the government than in the opposition."

"One of the things that disturbs me most about the present government is that the facts are not being presented to the people," he said.

SOCRED LEADERS ON CAMPAIGN TRAIL

High Arrow Best Bet—Williston

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston said Thursday night at Revelstoke the High Arrow dam is the best project to start hydro development of the Columbia River "whether we like it or not and every way we look at it."

Williston said British Columbia is committed by one of the basic principles of the international joint commission's report to submit High Arrow to public hearings.

Canada can expect $6 back for every dollar it spends on the $66,000,000 project.

The public hearing is expected to be held soon, although there is widespread opposition at Revelstoke over High Arrow.

FACE QUICKENS

In other parts of the province campaigns for the September 12 provincial election quickened pace on Thursday night.

Highways Minister Gagliardi took a swipe at almost everyone at a Social Credit rally held at Grand Forks.

Gagliardi said the federal government takes a 52 per cent tax bite from firms like Powell River Company and MacMillan Bloedel but returns nothing for fire protection and fire-fighting costs.

He ended the rally with, "If you want a free enterprise government in British Columbia, quit fiddling around with the Conservatives, Liberals and the CCF party."

At Kamloops, Attorney General Bonner blamed the federal government's economic policies for the present unemployment situation in Canada.

He told a Social Credit election rally that no provincial policy could relieve the problem, except locally, and urged a change in policies on the federal level.

Bonner added that the unemployment situation could be traced to the federal government's "tight money policy", which he said has kept home building down.

Briton 'Hanged'

Could Have Fought Out

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP) — The chief United Nations official in the Congo said today Canadian soldiers could "easily" have fought their way out of difficulties with Congolese troops Thursday.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, UN undersecretary, in a statement paid tribute to the Canadian signalmen who were wearing only side arms when they were mauled, kicked and hampered by rifle butts.

"They endured this intolerable interference with duties undertaken in the aid of the Congo Republic," said Bunche.

"They might so easily and effectively have dealt with the situation in their own way."

Lumumba Blames Canadians

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (Reuters) — Premier Patrice Lumumba at a press conference today accused UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld of deliberately exaggerating Thursday's manhandling by Congolese of a Canadian soldier here to "influence world opinion" against the Congo government.

Lumumba said the incident in which Congolese attacked the Canadians was "banal enough in itself."

He charged that the Canadians had refused to show their identity cards and behaved themselves "with vulgarity toward the authorities of the nation charged with the control of the airport."

Lumumba also accused Hammarskjöld of "blackmail" because the secretary-general had proposed a reconsideration of UN activities in the Congo as a result of Thursday's incidents.

The premier issued a press statement as UN troops were given orders to shoot if necessary at Leopoldville airport after the Canadians were rough-housed by Congolese troops.

"GO IT ALONE"

Lumumba twice hinted the Congo is prepared to "go it alone" without UN support.

His prepared statement said: "We could easily, and in a very few days, establish order in this country with our own means and with the direct assistance which we could obtain from certain countries which have already assured us of their disinterested aid."

Lumumba did not specify the countries.

Lumumba also blamed Thursday's airport incident, when a Canadian officer was knocked unconscious with a rifle butt, on Swedish troops. He said they had prevented Congolese authorities from carrying out immigration control.

Witnesses said only Canadians, Indians, Moroccans and Ghanaians were involved in the incident. Except for headquarters staff, all Swedish UN forces left here a week ago for UN duty in Katanga province, 1,000 miles away.

Mr. Green said Canadian forces serving with the UN in the Congo carry full identification, including armbands. "I don't think the question of identification is a good alibi," he said.

He was asked if he thought the Congolese were acting under orders. "That I don't know."

"It looks pretty deliberate," said the minister.

SITUATION 'CONFUSED'

He said it must be understood that the Congolese forces cannot be compared with, say, a Canadian force, acting under control. "The situation there is very confused."

Despite the incident, said Mr. Green, no thought is being given to withdrawal of the Canadian troops.

He indicated he supports UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's view that it would be a mistake if a UN force were to be drawn up on a color basis, and that white troops must be included in the Congo force.

Mr. Green said he did not know whether Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba has yet received Prime Minister Diefenbaker's stiff note of protest over the beating and manhandling of the Canadian soldiers.

The note demanded Lumumba's immediate assurance that the security of Canadian forces would not be violated by the Congolese.

The minister said that if no assurances are received, "that question will have to be decided, in due course."

He said soldiers' lives are always at stake, and that he could not say there was no danger to Canadian personnel serving in the Congo.

Mr. Green said Canadian public opinion was "pretty badly shocked at the incident," but he said the government is "not planning anything drastic at the moment."

UN forces, he said, had been given orders to shoot to protect themselves.

It will be a matter of some years, he said, before the Congo situation settles down.

Dag Hints Slowdown For UN Congo Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld said today that if conditions in the Congo do not improve, further activities by United Nations forces there "may be rendered impossible."

Reporting on an incident in the Congo Thursday in which Canadian signalmen were mauled by Congolese soldiers, Hammarskjöld said in a communique to the Security Council:

"Even as matters stand, activities are, in the civilian as well as in the military field, slowed down, rendered less effective and more costly, this quite apart from the continual

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians announced the launching of a new five-ton space ship into orbit carrying two dogs and other animals whose life above the clouds will be reported back by television.

ANTI-CASTRO EXILES FAIL

MONTREAL (CP) — General Jose E. Pedraza, leader of the Cuban Anti-Communist Liberation Movement, has made an unsuccessful attempt to speak into the United States from Canada to organize Cuban exiles for the overthrow of Fidel Castro.

General Pedraza and three other Cuban exiles were nabbed by a United States border patrol early Wednesday after a wild midnight scramble over the international boundary near Phillipsburg, Que., about 60 miles southeast of Montreal.

The broadcast said the purpose of the ship is to test how living creatures could exist in space — and also how they might be brought back to earth.

The broadcast did not state whether it was planned to bring these particular animals back to earth. The space ship they are in was described as large enough for a man.

Radio equipment will report back the condition of the animals and the functioning of the apparatus aboard and, said Moscow radio, television reports of their activities also will be sent back.

A Tass story said: "Several medio-biological experiments will be made during the satellite ship's flight and a program of space research will be carried out."

"The weight of the satellite ship apart from the carrier rocket amounts to 4,600 kilograms 10,120 pounds."

Emissary Grabbed
VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — An emissary sent to obtain King Savang Vatthana's approval of the new revolutionary-backed government has been arrested by opposition military forces in the royal capital of Luang Prabang, premier-designate Prince Souvanna Phouma said today.

His statement came shortly before the Security Council was summoned to meet Sunday on the Congo crisis.

ment. Clutched in his hand was a ground wire from a weird, home-made electrical apparatus.

A wet towel was wrapped about Hudson's head. His bare feet rested on another wet towel.

Pasted on each temple was a 25-cent piece. From each coin extended a wire to a homemade transformer — a two-pound coffee tin containing a series of magnets and coils of wire.

A lead from the transformer was connected to a wall outlet. Police said the apparatus apparently was triggered by taping hold of the ground wire.

Purpose of the transformer, police said, was to increase the voltage from the wall outlet. It was estimated that 1,000 volts shot through Hudson's body.

Hudson's brother told police the victim had been undergoing electrical shock treatments by a physician.

Powers Sentenced To 10-Year Term

RUSS CLAIM RIGHT TO HIT U.S. BASES

LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow radio said today the conviction and sentence of Francis Gary Powers for his U-2 espionage mission has given Russia "moral and juridical grounds to fender harmless the bases from which such planes operate."

The broadcast to southeast Asia said the trial revealed "the unseemly role played by a number of governments who offer their territory to the United States to be used as military bases."

Ike Regrets 'Severity' Of Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today expressed "regrets" over "the severity of the sentence" Gary Powers. The White House said the president will not drop his interest in the case.

Eisenhower's feeling about the sentence, and the broad implication that the U.S. government will press Russia for better treatment of Powers were contained in this statement issued by press secretary James Hagerty:

"The president has been informed of the sentence imposed on Mr. Powers by the Soviet court."

"He deplores the Soviet action with the entire episode beginning last May and regrets the severity of the sentence."

"He extends his sincere sympathy to the members of the Powers family."

U-2 Pilot Won't Face U.S. Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Highly-placed officials said today spy pilot Francis Gary Powers will not have to worry about prosecution by the United States if the Russians ever give him freedom to return home.

Neither the state department, which has discussed the Powers case in the past, nor the Central Intelligence Agency which had charge of the U-2 reconnaissance flights over Russia, would comment on Powers' fate as his Moscow trial came to a close.

Officials privately stressed two points:

1. From a political point of view, internal and international, it would be inadvisable for the United States to prosecute Powers. He apparently has won public sympathy both in this country and abroad for his plight. Also the United States has nothing to gain from keeping the Powers case alive as a propaganda issue.

2. The law on disclosure of information relating to secret operations is regarded within the government as applying only to violations within United States territory.

"Powers knew he was violating international law when he violated the air space of the Soviet Union."

"That violation created a direct threat to world peace and security. The flight of a reconnaissance plane could immediately precede an air attack."

"Under these conditions, the aggressive act of the United States perpetrated May 1 by Powers created a threat to world peace and security."

Earlier, defence counsel Griniov pleaded for a light sentence, saying Powers had told him he faced another trial in the United States if he were allowed to return home. Powers told him, the lawyer said, that he would receive 10 years in jail or a $10,000 fine for revealing details of his contract with the CIA.

Powers himself took the stage again at the conclusion of Griniov's statement and told the judges he wanted to be tried as a person and not as a political figure.

"You have heard all the evidence and must decide what my punishment is to be," the American said.

"I realize I committed a grave crime and must be punished for it."

Strike Denounced
(See page 2)

OTTAWA (CP) — President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress today denounced the International Teamsters Brotherhood for inspiring an "illegal wildcat strike" of truck drivers and warehousemen on the CPR's Vancouver Merchandise Service. He said the sole purpose of the illegal strike is to try to "enforce a raid" against the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, a CLC affiliate.

Wife Plans Appeal to K.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union tonight sentenced Francis Gary Powers to prison and then permitted him to see his tearful wife behind the scenes at the courtroom where he was tried for his U-2 spy flight.

A military court gave the 31-year-old American pilot a 10-year sentence for espionage but modified that by specifying only three years are to be spent in prison.

The rest of the sentence is covered by "deprivation of liberty." That may mean assignment to a special colony with other prisoners, or possibly expulsion.

It is conceivable that Powers may be sent out of the Soviet Union when his prison term is finished. There was nothing official on this, but the feeling among some diplomats here is that the Soviet Union at this stage has no special desire to keep Powers after the trial.

Judges Take 4 Hours to Set Term

Powers was downed on a May 1 flight which carried him into the Soviet Union at 68,000 feet. The incident led to wrecking of the summit conference and cancellation of the Soviet Union's invitation to President Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union.

The presiding judge of the three-man court, Lt. Gen. Victor Borisoglebsky, read the verdict, reached in a conference of four hours and 35 minutes, following summations. The sentence, he said, runs from May 1, the date of Powers' arrest.

A great burst of applause swept the crowded courtroom. Powers' wife and mother, Mrs. Oliver Powers, collapsed briefly and wept.

His wife Barbara, 24, attired in navy blue, had fidgeted and twisted her gloves as the reading of the verdict went on for 30 minutes. Occasionally she sponged her forehead with a handkerchief dipped in a glass of water.

Both the wife and mother quickly regained their composure and stood up holding hands.

Later Barbara and her husband, whom she had seen only at a distance since she came to Moscow Sunday, were reunited in a little room adjoining the court.

His mother, father, and a sister also were permitted to see him for an hour.

Witnesses described the reunion between Powers and his family as a heart-tugging one. Powers' interpreter came out of the room wiping tears from his eyes.

Then a Soviet cameraman came out and said: "I could not stand the scene any longer. I would have broken down myself."

Mikhail Griniov, Powers' defence attorney, accompanied the convicted flier into the rear room, but left immediately afterward.

When the reporters asked Griniov what he thought of the sentence, he said: "I think it is a very good and very just sentence."

A spokesman for the Powers family said the sentence "was what had been expected—they were not surprised."

Two phone calls, from New York and Dallas, Tex., came through for the Powers family at the court building, but they refused to answer them.

Fire Kills 6 At Russ Base In Antarctic

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fire at the major Soviet base in Antarctica Aug. 3 took the lives of eight scientists—six Russians, one Czech and one German.

Word of the disaster reached the National Science Foundation today by radio from the U.S. scientific base at McMurdo Sound, Antarctica.

The Soviet base at Mirny is on the other side of the Antarctic continent from the U.S. base. They are about 1,400 miles apart.

Advices from the U.S. base said the fire was reported to have destroyed the meteorology building at Mirny, but gave no details.

Tearful Reunion With Flier

MOSCOW (UPI) — American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers and his family held a tearful reunion immediately after he was found guilty of espionage and sentenced today.

After the verdict was announced in the courtroom, Powers' wife Barbara, his sister Jessica and his parents were led into a room behind the stage for the reunion. Powers and his family were overcome with emotion and wept.

It was the first time Powers had talked with any member of his family since he left on his mission over Russia and was shot down May 1.

Witnesses described the reunion between Powers and his family as a heart-tugging one. Powers' interpreter came out of the room wiping tears from his eyes.

Then a Soviet cameraman came out and said: "I could not stand the scene any longer. I would have broken down myself."

One of the great advantages Thinking, Intelligent, Humans have over poor, dumb, animals is, Humans are able to worry.

poor, dumb animals haven't enough sense to worry. poor, dumb animals couldn't worry even if they had enough sense to want to.

As for Thinking, Intelligent Humans, they are seldom at a loss for something to worry about. Even if it is how to end a sentence not a proposition with.

When Thinking, Intelligent Humans run out of things to worry about—such as whether beans are better than chile con carne as the staple stock in a fall-out shelter—they can always turn to worrying about what they should worry about.

This, of course, is the nadir of worrying—worrying about not having much to worry about, and therefore being worried beyond all conscience, simply for the lack of worry.

I count myself fortunate in this regard. I was tidying up my desk the other day, and I came upon this unfinished sentence, unmistakably typed by me, reposing all by itself on a piece of copy paper:

"What, as the curator of the zoo said to the"

There is something a worrier can get his teeth into.

What was the intention behind this embryonic rhetoric?

What did the zoo-keeper say to whom? or what?

When did he say it? Why did I put 32 letters of the alphabet in that particular order, and leave them there to moulder?

Did deathless prose die a-horning? Have I cheated the loyal constituents of the just rewards of their patience by following me this far?

As I go to sleep, tonight, I shall do so worrying about what the curator of the zoo said to the

VOTE LIST JUMPS HIGH IN SAANICH

A total of 862,293 British Columbians are eligible to vote in the Sept. 12 provincial election.

An increase of more than 10 per cent from the 1956 total was disclosed today in an estimate by electoral officials.

The 1956 total was 778,587. Saanich showed one of the province's biggest jumps in its voters' list.

The total of eligible voters there is 30,060, up 7,510.

The over-all provincial total contains estimates for seven ridings—including all Greater Vancouver—and 1956 figures for the ridings of Cariboo, Comox, Cranbrook, Fort George and Salmon Arm.

These areas have not yet submitted totals.

All other ridings have submitted a final count.

Total of Greater Victoria voters is 89,884.

Of these Oak Bay has 12,832, an increase of 2,321; Esquimalt has jumped 2,175 to 14,883 and Victoria has an increase of 607 to 32,109.

These figures reflect the population growth.

Victoria has changed little, but Saanich has been the area with the big residential expansion.

The Greater Vancouver total—based on an estimate from its registrar—is 360,242 for six ridings. That's an increase of 25,509 from 1956.

Two Teen-Agers Carried Burglar Tools

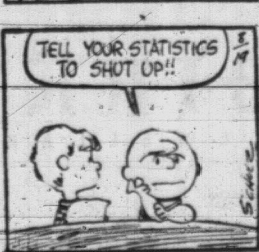

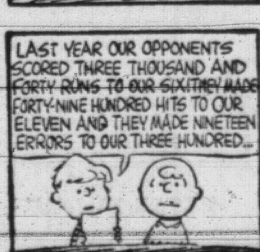

A pair of teen-aged Victoria boys were found guilty in Saanich police court Thursday of possessing burglar tools, found when they were checked by police at 2 a.m. Aug. 5.

Lynch, an unemployed logger, and Ward, who is an apprentice sheet metal worker, were stopped by Esquimalt police at Tillicum and Gorge, when they said they were out for a walk and on their way home. One gave a false address.

Each carried a heavy-duty screwdriver and Lynch had a broken padlock in his pocket.

Court was told by the proprietor of Tillicum Meat Market, 2904 Tillicum, that the lock had been taken from a steel gate on his premises.

VOTES, NOTES, QUOTES

Social Credit Names No. 52

(Edited By Norman Cribbens)

Election fever mounted throughout B.C. today with all parties racing to round out full slates of candidates.

In Fernie, where Labor Independent Tom Uphill has decided against running again, the Social Credit picked Frank Butala as their 52nd candidate.

The Conservatives completed their slate Thursday by naming David Moon, 38, for the Mackenzie riding.

The CCF still has five to nominate and the Liberals need six, since the four major parties are contesting every riding.

Saanich CCF candidate Pat Thomas has just received a $50 home-owner grant—but not from the government.

He says it was given him by a Saanich woman householder who said she wouldn't be "bribed" with her own money.

"Use it to get the Socreds out," she said.

There will be a vacant chair on the platform at the Liberal rally in Sir James Douglas School Monday night.

"We shall keep it vacant for any city Socred candidate who cares to accept my challenge to a public debate on election issues," said Liberal George Gregory.

"They have ignored it so far."

Mr. Gregory will speak on "Are We Debt Free?" Forrest Shaw on "The Wenner-Gren Giveaway," Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow on "Liberal Aid to Municipalities."

Those Liberals are trying to throw grit in our gears," quipped Victoria Socred candidate Waldo Skillings at a Victoria West rally.

To which, Oak Bay Liberal organizer Alan Cox replied: "Quite right. We're using our Grit to slow down the Social Credit steamroller."

Socred candidate Herbert Bruch and CCFer Geoffrey Mitchell were both lining up meetings in the scattered Esquimalt riding today. But Mr. Mitchell got off to a late start.

On leaving home he was called for duty as a member of Metcoshin's volunteer fire brigade and raced round to a house on Taylor Road. It was just a chimney fire, so he went on to sterner things.

Herbert Bruch opens his campaign in the Colwood Hall tonight... expects to hold at least 10 meetings in his riding before polling day.

Supporters of Conservative James George and Liberal Alan Macfarlane began intensive door-to-door canvassing in the Oak Bay area this morning.

Mr. George's two stepsons, Tony and Ian Elise of Oak Bay High, distributed leaflets in a "Back Up Dad" campaign.

Alan Macfarlane will hold his first public meeting in Oak Bay Municipal Hall next Thursday, supported by Alan Cox and Geoffrey Ellis. His topic will be: "What School Costs Mean In Oak Bay."

Labor Boss Warning Issued by Bennett In Election Attack

By FRANK BUTTER

Premier Bennett today ripped into his political opponents for making "pie in the sky" promises and warned "international labor bosses" are moving in to take over the CCF.

"The people of B.C. should watch closely. These international labor bosses moving in to take over the CCF," he said at a press conference.

He was referring to plans of the CCF to merge with Canadian labor into a new party. A number of CCF candidates in the Sept. 12 election campaign are labor representatives.

"Very soon they will have a new party," said Mr. Bennett. "Socialism always makes for compulsion," he said, commenting on a proposal by CCF leader Robert Strachan to take over B.C. Electric.

"The CCF wants to run everything and tell you what to do."

The premier said "it reminds me of certain people in other parts of the world today," but he didn't say where.

If services are taken over by the state, he said, "where will they stop?"

Mr. Bennett also sniped at the Liberal proposal to hoist school taxes from property owners.

HAVENT DONE IT

It is a policy, he said, which "governments of the same stripe in other provinces haven't been able to come up with."

If it was so easy to do "why haven't they done it?"

Liberals under new leader Ray Perrault are "promising the moon" but under his predecessor Arthur Laing, it was "just the opposite."

Then the government was accused of spending "too much," said Mr. Bennett.

"Two or three years of their Liberal promises would just ruin the credit of the province."

Mr. Bennett again disclaimed any knowledge of plans to go ahead on Peace River hydro development. These plans are by "a private company" he said.

"I laugh at people who call the premier a dictator one minute and the next minute say the premier must do something," he said.

Of the Opposition in general: "None of them run on the past record of their parties. They come out with pie in the sky promises."

LONGSHOREMEN

New Pact Features Guarantee

Five locals of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union are balloting today on a proposed agreement with the B.C. Federation of Shipping which includes a guaranteed annual minimum hours of work clause.

Three of the locals are on Vancouver Island, at Victoria, Nanaimo and Alberni.

The other two are at Vancouver and New Westminster.

Ballots will be counted at Vancouver Monday.

Negotiating committees of both union and the federation have recommended acceptance of the contract, which provides for 1,820 hours of work per man for the year commencing Aug. 1, 1960, and ending Aug. 1, 1961, at the current rate of $2.78 per hour.

NORMAL VOLUME

The minimum guarantee applies only if the volume of cargo handled is "normal," and there is provision to take care of abnormally light cargoes from unavoidable causes.

Union negotiators sought the guarantee in view of improved machinery for cargo handling, such as "packaged" lumber loading recently developed.

Russ Space Ship Carries Animals

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians announced the launching of a new five-ton space ship into orbit carrying two dogs and other animals whose life above the clouds will be reported back by television.

Moscow radio said the space ship is in orbit at an altitude of 320 kilometres (198.8 miles).

The dogs aboard are named Strelka and Belka, meaning Pointer or Arrow and Squirrel. Tass reported later information received 30 minutes after the launching indicated that the animals were in good condition. Their pulse rates were from 90 to 92 a minute and the rate of respiration 20 to 40 a minute.

The other animals were not immediately identified, but Moscow radio said these two dogs have flown before, accompanied by a big grey rabbit.

The broadcast said the purpose of the ship is to test how living creatures could exist in space—and also how they might be brought back to earth.

The broadcast did not state whether it was planned to bring these particular animals back to earth. The space ship they are in was described as large enough for a man.

Radio equipment will report back the condition of the animals and the functioning of the apparatus aboard and, said Moscow radio, television reports of their activities also will be sent back.

A Tass story said: "Several medio-biological experiments will be made during the satellite ship's flight and a program of space research will be carried out."

"The weight of the satellite ship apart from the carrier rocket amounts to 4,600 kilograms (10,120 pounds.)"

Discoverer in Orbit

By The Associated Press

It was a hit and miss day Thursday for the United States space scientists.

As the latest Discoverer satellite—the fourteenth—roared into orbit from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., disappointed observers at Cape Canaveral, Fla., watched the first attempt to launch a Courier military communications satellite end in flames.

But a Bomarc-A missile destroyed a giant drone bomber 172 miles off the Gulf of Mexico and the Polaris submarine missile, on the brink of operational readiness, scored another test flight success over a 1,100-mile course.

Deliberate Attack—Green

By TOM GOULD, Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—External Affairs Minister Howard Green said today the attack on Canadian signalmen by Congolese soldiers was "deliberate" and could not be explained as a case of mistaken identity.

Canucks Praised

Could Have Fought Out

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—The chief United Nations official in the Congo said today Canadian soldiers could "easily" have fought their way out of difficulties with Congolese troops Thursday.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, UN undersecretary, in a statement paid tribute to the Canadian signalmen who were wearing only side arms when they were mauled, kicked and hammered by rifle butts.

"They endured this intolerable interference with duties undertaken in the aid of the Congo Republic," said Bunche. "They might so easily and effectively have dealt with the situation in their own way."

Lumumba Blames Canadians

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (Reuters)—Premier Patrice Lumumba at a press conference today accused UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld of deliberately exaggerating Thursday's handling by Congolese of Canadian soldier here to "influence world opinion" against the Congo government.

Lumumba said the incident in which Congolese attacked the Canadians was "banal enough in itself."

He charged that the Canadians had refused to show their identity cards and behaved themselves "with vulgarity toward the authorities of the nation charged with the control of the airport."

UN Guards Rescued From Firing Squad

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—Two United Nations guards, arrested Thursday while trying to deliver a note from UN deputy secretary-general Ralph Bunche to Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba, narrowly escaped execution by a Congolese firing squad, it was disclosed today.

A UN spokesman said the guards, a Jamaican and a Brazilian, were arrested and disarmed by Congolese soldiers guarding Lumumba's residence, then ordered shot.

Just as the eight-man firing squad was about to shoot, a Ghanaian guard stationed at the residence jumped in front of the two men.

Shortly afterward, Indian Gen. I. Rikhiye, of the UN force, arrived and led the two

Mr. Green said Canadian forces serving with the UN in the Congo carry full identification, including armbands. "I don't think the question of identification is a good alibi," he said.

He was asked if he thought the Congolese were acting under orders. "That I don't know."

"It looks pretty deliberate," said the minister.

SITUATION 'CONFUSED'

He said it must be understood that the Congolese forces cannot be compared with, say, a Canadian force, acting under control. "The situation there is very confused."

Despite the incident, said Mr. Green, no thought is being given to withdrawal of the Canadian troops.

He indicated he supports UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's view that it would be a mistake if a UN force were to be drawn up on a color basis, and that white troops must be included in the Congo force.

Mr. Green said he did not know whether Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba has yet received Prime Minister Diefenbaker's stiff note of protest over the beating and man-handling of the Canadian soldiers.

The note demanded Lumumba's immediate assurance that the security of Canadian forces would not be violated by the Congolese.

The minister said that if no assurances are received, "that question will have to be decided, in due course."

He said soldiers' lives are at stake, and that he could not say there was no danger to Canadian personnel serving in the Congo.

Mr. Green said Canadian public opinion was "pretty badly shocked at the incident," but he said the government is "not planning anything drastic at the moment."

UN forces, he said, had been given orders to shoot to protect themselves.

It will be a matter of some years, he said, before the Congo situation settles down.

MOSCOW (UPI)—American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers and his family held a tearful reunion immediately after he was found guilty of espionage and sentenced today.

Ike Regrets 'Severity' Of Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today expressed "regrets" over "the severity of the sentence" Gary Powers. The White House said the president will not drop his interest in the case.

Eisenhower's feeling about the sentence, and the broad implication that the U.S. government will press Russia for better treatment of Powers were contained in this statement issued by press secretary James Hagerty:

"The president has been informed of the sentence imposed on Mr. Powers by the Soviet court."

"He deplores the Soviet propaganda activity in connection with the entire episode beginning last May and regrets the severity of the sentence."

"He extends his sincere sympathy to the members of the Powers family."

Appeal to Mr. K. Planned by Wife

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union tonight sentenced Francis Gary Powers to prison and then permitted him to see his tearful wife behind the scenes at the courtroom where he was tried for his U-2 spy flight.

A military court gave the 31-year-old American pilot a 10-year sentence for espionage but modified that by specifying only three years are to be spent in prison.

The rest of the sentence is covered by "deprivation of liberty." That may mean assignment to a special colony with other prisoners, or possibly expulsion.

It is conceivable that Powers may be sent out of the Soviet Union when his prison term is finished.

There is no appeal provided for in the Soviet law, but Powers' wife has indicated her intention to carry a personal plea to Soviet Premier Khrushchev if she can see him.

The hands of a Virginian showed no emotion when he heard the sentence. He stood with arms folded as he heard an English translation of the outcome of his three-day trial.

Judges Take 4 Hours to Set Term

Powers was downed on a May 1 flight which carried him into the Soviet Union at 68,000 feet. The incident led to wrecking of the summit conference and cancellation of the Soviet Union's invitation to President Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union.

The presiding judge of the three-man court, Lt. Gen. Victor Borisoglebsky, read the verdict, reached in a conference of four hours and 35 minutes, following summations. The sentence, he said, runs from May 1, the date of Powers' arrest.

A great burst of applause swept the crowded courtroom. Powers' wife and mother

'Repentance' Kept Sentence Light

The court said that in view of "mitigating circumstances in the case and considering the confession and repentance of the defendant, the military collegium (of the Soviet Supreme Court) has sentenced defendant Powers, Francis Gary, in accordance with Article 11 concerning a criminal act against the state, to 10 years of deprivation of liberty, with the first three years to be served in prison."

The judge said the evidence, plus Powers' testimony, "established that Powers carried out the criminal mission he received."

"Experts have established that the information gathered by Powers during his May 1 flight constituted state and military secrets of U.S.S.R.," he said.

"He was a tool of the CIA, Central Intelligence Agency, which carries out plans of the government of the United States."

"Powers knew he was violating international law when he violated the air space of the Soviet Union."

"That violation created a direct threat to world peace and security. The flight of a reconnaissance plane could immediately precede an air attack."

"Under these conditions, the aggressive act of the United States perpetrated May 1 by Powers created a threat to world peace and security."

OTTAWA (CP)—President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress today denounced the International Teamsters Brotherhood for inspiring an "illegal wildcat strike" of truck drivers and warehousemen on the CPR's Vancouver Merchandise Service. He said the sole purpose of the illegal strike is to try to "enforce a raid" against the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, a CLC affiliate.

Dag Hints Slowdown For UN Congo Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld said today that if conditions in the Congo do not improve, further activities by United Nations forces there "may be rendered impossible."

Reporting on an incident in the Congo Thursday in which Canadian signalmen were mauled by Congolese soldiers, Hammarskjöld said in a communiqué to the Security Council:

"Even as matters stand, activities are, in the civilian as well as in the military field, slowed down, rendered less effective and more costly, this quite apart from the continual grave risk of political complications if present conditions are not changed."

"I need not underline the extreme gravity of this incident, which might easily have faced the United Nations troops with a choice between surrender to force or the use of force in legitimate self-defence."

Hammarskjöld said that it was only thanks to the timely intervention by United Nations officers that worse developments "at the last minute were averted."

His statement came shortly before the Security Council was summoned to meet Sunday on the Congo crisis.

Lumumba also accused Hammarskjöld of "blackmail" because the secretary-general had proposed a reconsideration of UN activities in the Congo as a result of Thursday's incidents.

The premier issued a press statement as UN troops were given orders to shoot if necessary at Leopoldville airport after the Canadians were rough-housed by Congolese troops.

"GO IT ALONE"
 Lumumba twice hinted the Congo is prepared to "go it alone" without UN support.

His prepared statement said:
 "We could easily, and in a very few days, establish order in this country with our own means and with the direct assistance which we could obtain from certain countries which have already assured us of their disinterested aid."

Lumumba did not specify the countries.
 Lumumba also blamed Thursday's airport incident, when a Canadian officer was knocked unconscious with a rifle butt on Swedish troops.

He said they had prevented Congolese authorities from carrying out immigration control.

Witnesses said only Canadians, Indians, Moroccans and Ghanaians forces were involved in the incident. Except for headquarters staff, all Swedish UN forces left here a week ago for UN duty in Katanga province, 1,000 miles away.

USSR OKs Recess
 In Test Ban Talks
 GENEVA (Reuters)—Russia today announced it has agreed to a recess of the three-power nuclear test ban conference.

"The only difference between us is how long it should last," Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told reporters. "The West wants a recess of one month but we would prefer something less than that."

Incoming Freight Slowed Down

A wildcat strike against Canadian Pacific Merchandise Services, a GPR subsidiary, has slowed down incoming freight at the Island Freight Lines depot here, but outgoing freight is moving normally.

A spokesman for IFL said today main cause of the slowdown was freight handling at Vancouver, where about half the Merchandise Services employees have walked out the job in a jurisdictional dispute.

Freight lines offices at Duncan and Nanaimo are operating at about half speed, but all Victoria employees have remained on the job.

"DISMISSABLE"
 Registered letters have been sent by the CPR to all employees who walked out, stating that this is a "dismissable action" and that when they return to work they will be "held out of service" pending a full investigation.

A CPR spokesman emphasized that this was "in no sense firing."

There are still conflicting claims and counter claims on the extent of the walkout.

W. Harry McDonald, Vancouver manager of CP Merchandise, said Thursday the strike involves only 25 per cent of the 750 men employed.

FOOTHOLD BID
 In a prepared statement, he said: "This illegal strike is apparently fomented by the Teamsters' Union in their endeavor to gain a foothold in this organization despite their applications having been twice denied by the Canada Labor Relations Board."

Al Mose, representative of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (CLC) which is reported to be battling with the teamsters for representation of the employees, said the walkout in Vancouver was "only 50 per cent" and 17 men had gone out in Trail. All other points were operating, he said.

Charles Gower, secretary of the Teamsters joint council, accused the Railway and Steamship Clerks and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers of splitting their jurisdictions on the CPR and Canadian National Railway.

He said CNR started a company similar to merchandise services in Edmonton last week. He said apparently, CBRT was to have jurisdiction on CNR and the railway and steamship clerks on CPR.

WAGES DROPPED
 This meant the railway clerks' contract applied and some of the men took a 30-40 cents an hour drop in wages, lost two statutory holidays and had their holiday pay cut from 4 to 2 per cent," he said.

Mr. Gower denied that the Teamsters are behind the strike, but claimed that the strikers are members of the Teamsters demanding recognition of their union.

He said the Teamsters are honoring picket lines but have been forbidden to interfere with the transport of mail or perishables. He said the Teamsters advised the CP Merchandise workers not to strike.

Mr. Mose denied knowledge of any agreement with the CBRT on jurisdiction. He said no one had to get a wage cut.

Fipa Broda, West Vancouver, and Ian Kay, Vancouver, will make the flight, weather permitting, to find what chances there are of recovering the bodies.
